

MORATORIUM PLEA SENT TO CONGRESS

Conservatives Offer Own Fund Bill For Relief

CUT GOVERNOR'S DEMANDS DOWN BY 12 MILLION

Stalwarts in Assembly Introduce Measure Calling for $5,000,000

BATTLE DUE SATURDAY

Favor Surtaxes but on Less Drastic Basis Than LaFollette's Plan

Madison—(P)—Sliding Governor LaFollette's taxation and relief recommendations from $17,000,000 to $5,000,000 conservative Republicans introduced their own unemployment relief program in the state assembly today.

The stage for a battle between the Progressives and the regulars on this major issue of the special session was set for 9:30 Saturday morning. Both the administration bill and the conservatives' substitute were placed on the assembly calendar for consideration at that time.

The conservatives' amendment, like the governor's plan proposes to obtain relief funds from 1931 income surtaxes but on a much less drastic basis.

The $5,000,000 would be collected by surtax levies of one fourth of normal incomes in 1931, one-fifth of corporation incomes and by reductions of salaries of state employees earning $125 a month or more, who will consent to a wage cut.

It also places control of the relief funds directly in the hands of local governing boards, whereas the administration proposal would have the emergency unemployment relief commission supervise its $17,000,000 plan.

The $5,000,000 bill was introduced in the lower house by Assemblyman Lewis W. Powell of Kenosha, as an amendment to the Progressive bill, sponsored by Senator Robert Nixon, of Washington.

Governor Has Edge

While passage on the LaFollette program in the heavily Progressive assembly has been predicted, Assemblyman Allen J. Busby of Milwaukee, declared today "it doesn't look like the Nixon bill will be enacted in time to be of any benefit."

That was part of the preamble to a third relief bill, sponsored by Busby and providing for the immediate appropriation of $6,000,000 from the general fund. Busby would leave for future consideration some method of reimbursing the general fund by taxation.

The fight of the conservatives on Governor LaFollette's program has been brewing in recent caucuses in which Senator Walter S. Goodland of Racine, took a leading part.

Goodland will sponsor the substitute in the upper house where the real battle between the two factions proposals is to be made. The administration bill introduced in the senate by Senator Leonard C. Foss of Milwaukee, is now in the hands of the joint finance committee.

Voluntary salary reductions for state employees during 1932 only was provided in the Goodland-Powell bill.

Five per cent of salaries between $125 and $250, provided the reduction will not reduce the salary of any employee below $125.

Ten per cent on salaries in excess of $250 a month.

State employees, whose salaries are fixed by law and cannot legally be cut are urged to allow voluntary reductions.

Distribution Plan

Distribution of the $5,000,000 would be made on the basis of 1930 normal income tax collections and on 1930 population.

Two-thirds or $3,333,333 would be distributed on the basis of the percentage of the 1930 income tax contributed by each county, town, city and village. The one-third remainder would be based on the proportion of each local unit's population to the state population as a whole.

Under this plan various local units would get the following sums grouped by counties:

Ashland, $19,604; Brown, $98,452; Chippewa, $36,601; Dane, $201,141; Douglas, $37,745; Eau Claire, $39,423; Fond du Lac, $31,394; Kenosha, $23,546; La Crosse, $81,539; Langlade, $21,440; Lincoln, $21,194; Manitowish, $35,603; Marathon, $57,027; Marinette, $41,479; Milwaukee, $1,980,892; Monroe, $21,749; Oneida, $25,825; Outagamie, $26,137; Racine, $25,822; Rock, $167,451; Sheboygan, $114,793; Winnebago, $156,913.

1st Entries Received For Lighting Contest

Appleton People Showing Great Interest in Holiday Decoration

The first entries in the Appleton Post-Crescent Holiday Lighting contest were received this morning, indicating that Appleton people are taking a wholehearted interest in this movement to make the city particularly attractive during the holiday season. If people generally will cooperate Appleton can take the lead in Wisconsin in this growing nationwide movement.

It is not particularly difficult nor expensive to make the exterior of one's home as attractive during the Christmas season as the interior. By taking advantage of the shrubbery and trees in the yards and by studying the contour or architecture of the home or its entrance a very pleasing display can be arranged at a very small cost and the power required for lighting is extremely nominal.

Window decorations that are designed primarily to make the exterior of the home attractive will be considered by the judges in selecting the winners in the contest. There are many types of illuminated window decorations that are safe and attractive and will go a long way toward making a home decoration beautiful and complete.

The model decorations to be installed by the Langstadt Electric Co., Art-Kilgren Electric Co., and the E. H. Block electric shop, to be announced soon, will give a pretty good idea of how to make use of the natural advantages found in every home.

Appleton people are invited to enter this contest and compete for the eight prizes offered by the Appleton Post-Crescent. The entry blank will be found on page 4 of today's paper and it should be sent to the Holiday Lighting Contest editor of The Appleton Post-Crescent.

APPLETON YOUTH IS WITNESS IN SLAYING

Carl Babcock Identifies Garments Worn by Moore in Markham Trial

Holyoke, Colo.—(P)—The illness of a juror today brought a respite in the trial of John Markham, 19, of Granite City, Ill., charged with the slaying of Stanley M. Moore, Michigan College of Mines student.

The juror, James Elliott, was taken to a hospital late yesterday on advice of a physician. If Elliott does not recover, District Attorney Johnson said it probably would be necessary to select an entire new jury.

One of the last bits of evidence introduced before the halt in the trial was called were the clothes worn by Moore when he was slain near here last September.

"Did you ever see those clothes before?" asked Johnson as he held up a young man's garments before Carl Babcock of Appleton, Wis.

Carl, who with his brothers, Donald and Miller, were called here as state witnesses, said the clothes were the ones worn by Moore when he left their Wisconsin home for Colorado on the morning of Sept. 4. Three days later Moore's body was found.

Markham was arrested in Denver and confessed, authorities said, that he killed the former Michigan student because he feared he would reveal to authorities the car he had been driving was stolen in Kansas City, Mo.

Moore spent a week late in August visiting in Appleton with the Babcock boys. They took him to Portage Sept. 4, where he started to hitch-hike his way west. Moore and Carl and Donald Babcock became acquainted while the three were attending Michigan College of Mines at Houghton, Mich.

VOTE DEADLINE ON NEW LEGISLATION

Senators Set Dec. 15 as Final Date—Assembly O. K. Necessary

Madison—(P)—The state senate voted today to establish a deadline against introduction of bills in the special session of the legislature at midnight, Dec. 15.

That action must be concurred in by the assembly which had adopted a joint resolution to put up the bars against further bills effective last Monday. It was amended by the senate committee on procedure.

Concurrence probably will be forthcoming from the assembly and once the deadline is set up additional bills can be accepted only by a two-thirds vote in either house.

The senate this morning received the report from the state banking commissioner on the operations of small loans companies in Wisconsin as requested by Senator P. J. Smith, Eau Claire.

The report showed that loans by these companies aggregated $7,115,000 during 1930 and that profits aggregated $979,000. Average interest rates collected were reported as 21 per cent and the total amount, $2,383,000.

The state law permits loans on amounts up to $300 at a maximum yearly rate of 42 per cent. Losses on 1930 loans were shown to be $150,453 and foreclosures numbered 241.

RAIL WORKERS PONDER ACTION ON WAGE CUTS

Chicago—(P)—The preliminaries of the nation's 21 rail-way brotherhoods and unions got down to the business today that brought them to Chicago—formation of a policy regarding wage reductions.

The meetings of the 1,500 general union chairman from all over the country were closely guarded and the only information came through press conferences with D. B. Robertson, head of the American Brotherhood and chairman of the entire meeting.

Robertson told reporters the men were at last getting started on the vital problem of what to answer when the individual railroads ask them to accept voluntary wage cuts of 10 per cent.

Robertson doubted that any agreement could be reached by tonight.

CHILEAN CONGRESS IS THREATENED BY MOB

Santiago, Chile—(P)—A mob "banned" the Chilean congress last night with dried fish and a muligan stew bombardment of onions, other vegetables and crockery.

Unsuccessful in forcing the congress to dissolve as they demanded members of the mob retreated into the streets, stoned and wrecked street cars and store windows and had begun to lay down a barrage of pistol fire when the streets were cleared by a rush of 1,000 policemen.

Several persons were injured and 25 were arrested.

The mob was driven away from its assault on the congress hall by a charge of 500 mounted carabners who surrounded the building after the protesters stormed it.

GUilty OF MURDER

Mount Sterling, Ky.—(P)—William B. Jones, Barlian mine union secretary, was convicted of murder and conspiracy by a jury in circuit court here today. The jury fixed the penalty at life imprisonment.

"Miss Sarah Buel, later Mrs. Horatio Hale, noted American ethnologist," wrote the verses. Miss Buel was visiting with her two sisters at Ty Wales, in Vale Llanguell, North Wales, where my father, John Thomas, was a well known breeder of Welsh mountain sheep.

LEAGUE STAND ACCEPTED BY JAPAN, CHINA

Spokesmen for Both Nations Make Reservations on Resolution

Paris—(P)—Japan and China today accepted the league of nations resolution on the dispute in Manchuria. Both acceptances were with reservations.

Kenkichi Yoshizawa reserved the Japanese right to take measures against bandits in Manchuria. Dr. Alfred Sze stipulated that China reserved "any and all rights, remedies and judicial positions" to which it is entitled under the league government and under treaties to which it is a party.

"China understands and expects," said Dr. Sze, "that the commission of inquiry in Manchuria will make its first duty to inquire into and report with recommendation on the withdrawal of Japanese forces if such withdrawal has not been completed when the commission arrives on the ground."

With the acceptance by Japan and China endorsement of the resolution became unanimous. It also has been approved by United States Ambassador Dawes.

This arrangement calls for cessation of hostilities in Manchuria, withdrawal of Japanese troops as quickly as possible and creation of a neutral commission of inquiry to study the whole Sino-Japanese trouble.

M. Briand, before the meeting adjourned, expressed appreciation for the assistance given by the American government, and observed that although the council had fixed no date for completion of Japanese evacuation he was convinced that the troops would be withdrawn as quickly as possible.

Report Japs Advancing

A note from the Chinese government at Nanking to the league of nations council today said Japanese cavalry are advancing west of the Liao river in Manchuria and the Japanese have appointed 19 Chinese residential commissioners to organize "lawless elements" to disturb Chin-chow.

Dr. Sze also reported that three Japanese airplanes dropped bombs on Tienchang and Tawa yesterday.

Dr. Sze and Sir Eric Drummond, league secretary general, each conferred with Ambassador Charles G. Dawes today.

Ambassador Yoshizawa presented a formal declaration of Japan's attitude to the league of nations council today, following receipt of instructions from Tokyo overnight, concerning the "bandit measure" he proposes to present as a reservation to the league's peace resolution and Chairman Briand's commentary on it.

The twelve neutral members of the council went into secret session at noon to consider the declaration. The question was whether Japan's reservation can weather a public session of the council without counter-reservations by other parties.

Win Nobel Prize

Two Americans Win Nobel Peace Prize

Oslo, Norway—(P)—Jane Addams, American social worker, and Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, New York City, were awarded the Nobel Peace prize today.

The award was made by the Nobel committee of the Norwegian Storting (parliament). Half the prize goes to each of the two winners.

The presentation took place in the Nobel institute in the presence of King Haakon, Crown Prince Olaf, heads of foreign legations, members of the cabinet and the Storting, high state officials and representatives of various leading Norwegian educational, commercial and industrial bodies.

Each of the two recipients was presented and the award was accepted in their names by Hoffman Phillips, American minister to Norway.

Hoffman Phillips, noted a woman and member of the Nobel committee, declared the presentation address.

The United States, he said, stood foremost among the nations to which the prize has come during the past 50 years. Indeed, he recalled, the United States has won six times as many prizes as any other nation.

Some of the most vital idealism in the world, he said, has been produced in the United States, and Miss Addams and Dr. Butler are the best examples of it.

GLASS GETS REPORT ON GOLDHURST STAYS

Washington—(P)—The parole of H. L. Hunt, convicted murderer, who was shot by a U. S. Marshal James "Cotton" Johnson, has been reversed.

A parole hearing today Goldhurst stayed in the U. S. attorney's office in New York City, where he is being held in custody by the U. S. Marshal.

The parole board, which is composed of three members, Attorney General Cummings, U. S. Attorney Charles H. Butler and former Assistant United States Attorney Robert E. Manley, will report to the parole board.

The parole board is expected to report to the parole board by the end of the month.

MILWAUKEE TREASURY HAS HEAVY BALANCE

Milwaukee—(P)—With all the talk of Milwaukee's city treasury being in a bad way, the city's excellent financial condition was revealed by a report of comptroller Louis M. Koticki today.

The report showed that the city's treasury had a balance of $2,234,000. The city's excellent financial condition was revealed by a report of comptroller Louis M. Koticki today.

Mary Follows Little Lamb To Death In British Home

London—(P)—Mary Hughes, who many years ago had a little lamb that followed her to school, has followed the little lamb in death.

Mary was 99 and old and blind and lame before she passed on at her home at Worthing. But she continued to tell her story of how she was the Mary whose little lamb in the nursery rhyme became known around the world to children of three or four generations.

"Billy," the lamb, died many years ago of course. Mary, however, her friends said, continued to grow old and merry as when the fleshy white lamb followed her to school that day, over 50 years ago.

The story of the verses, as she told it, was this:

"Miss Sarah Buel, later Mrs. Horatio Hale, noted American ethnologist," wrote the verses. Miss Buel was visiting with her two sisters at Ty Wales, in Vale Llanguell, North Wales, where my father, John Thomas, was a well known breeder of Welsh mountain sheep.

SOLONS VOTE TO LEGALIZE OLEO TAX MEASURE

Schmiede on Committee to Investigate U. W. Athletic Finances

Madison—(P)—A bill changing the oleo tax from a tax levied on the oleo to a tax levied on the oleo, was passed in the assembly today. The vote was 63 to 9.

The measure, introduced by Assemblyman B. J. Gehrmann, Mellen, was passed under suspension of the rules and immediately messaged to the senate. It retains the annual license fee of $100 for manufacturers of butter substitutes and $50 for wholesalers, but cuts the retailers' fee to $25 plus 6 cents per pound. The old law assessed annual fees from $100 to $150, depending upon the amount sold. This feature of the bill was held unconstitutional when the circuit court branded it prohibitory.

The fee for proprietors of hotels and restaurants selling butter substitutes is reduced from $10 to $5, and for boarding house proprietors from $50 to $10. Proprietors of groceries and confectioneries were added by the bill. They must pay $5 fees.

Each license must report within the amount of the product handled. The bill imposes upon the state department of agriculture and markets the duty of giving wide publicity to the names of all licensees.

Recently J. D. Beck, a member of the legislature, was fined $5 for violation of an injunction in his sending out names of oleo dealers in violation of an injunction. He has appealed the case to the state supreme court.

Assemblymen Fredrick Krez, Plymouth, Oscar Schmiede, Appleton, Cornelius Young, Milwaukee, were named by Speaker Perry as members of the joint legislative committee charged with investigation of the financial affairs of the U. W. department of the University of Wisconsin. Assemblyman Krez was author of the move for the investigation.

The following assemblymen voted against the oleo bill: Westlund, Young, Murray, Kiefer, Ensel, Powell, Hilker, Davies and Janke.

Shorter Day Bill

The assembly adjourned after hearing several persons speak in favor of either the 10-hour or 11-hour working day bill, or the Nixon six-hour day maximum. Morton Shaw, Milwaukee, member of the Socialist party; Max Baskin, Milwaukee attorney; William Coleman, organizer and secretary of the Milwaukee Socialist party; Paul Gaur, Milwaukee Socialist alderman; W. L. Furseth of the United Workers League, Madison, and Samuel Suman, Appleton, representing the American Trades and Labor council, asked for shorter working day legislation.

Mr. Gaur said the city of Milwaukee had done everything possible for the unemployed and that action by the state legislature is now imperative. Mr. Coleman said he failed to pass a six-hour working day bill at the present time as an emergency measure to protect the unemployed would bring demands for a four-hour working day and a four-day week a year hence.

No one appeared before the assembly in opposition to either the six-hour or eight-hour day bill, or the Nixon bill.

A resolution, memorializing congress to amend the federal income tax law so as to provide that payments of taxes to states shall be credited as an offset against federal income taxes due up to 10 per cent of the income taxes assessed was adopted by the assembly and sent to the senate.

CARPENTERS CHEERFUL ABOUT 1932 OUTLOOK

Racine—(P)—The building trades of the state face a bright outlook in 1932 if reports from six cities to the Wisconsin Carpenters' council in convention here, can be considered as a criterion.

Projected as a bright outlook in construction were reported by delegates from Madison, Kenosha, Racine, Neenah-Menasha and Wisconsin Rapids. It was announced today by Roy E. Shaw, Kenosha secretary-treasurer.

NO WOUNDS FOUND ON BODY BURNED IN AUTO

Wausau—(P)—X-ray photographs of the charred body of Arthur Fehlhaber revealed no bullet wounds or other injuries. Coroner George W. Krueger said today. Fehlhaber, 36, a farmer who lived near Wausau, died in his burning automobile a mile from his home Tuesday.

The fact that the body was in the rear seat of the car, which had left the road and smashed into a stump, led authorities to suspect he had been slain. The X-ray examination today brought to light no bone fractures or other evidence that Fehlhaber had been poisoned.

Bruening's Decrees Are Called Decisive Blow To Hitlerism

TWO MEN NOW RULE GERMANY, PRESS THINKS

Chancellor Not Expected to Be Forced to Dissolve Parliament

Berlin—(AP)—Germany's moderate press today declared, with emphasis that Chancellor Heinrich Brüning who clamped the iron rule of a duumvirate on the country yesterday, had given Hitlerism a decided, and perhaps, decisive blow, by his latest radio speech and decrees.

Two days of meditation, meanwhile, on the decree issued by President von Hindenburg Tuesday night brought home to the German people the fact that two men, the chancellor and Dr. Earl Goerdeler, whom he made "prime dictator," now rule the country, economically as well as politically.

All danger has not been swept out of the path of the Brüning cabinet, however. It still faces the possibility that the council of elders might adopt the Communist resolution calling for convening the Reichstag, and the decision on this may come as early as tomorrow.

In political circles, however, the belief was expressed today that if the council should call for a session before Christmas the determined scholar-chancellor would wield his dictatorial powers, with the approval of President von Hindenburg, and dissolve the parliament.

The note of determination in the chancellor's voice, as he spoke over the radio Tuesday night, has given the indication that he intends to brook no opposition.

Many Avoid Extremes
The expectation in informed quarters is, however, that Dr. Brüning will not have to resort to such drastic measures and that he will be able to swing the doubtful parties into line by the use of the persuasive powers which have proven effective for him in the past.

In the meanwhile, Dr. Goerdeler is proceeding with the job of his "prime dictatorship" and he disclosed that one of his first moves will be to cut prices of industrial products. Next will come freight rates and prices of standard articles.

Already the effects of the sweeping emergency decree are being felt. A considerable number of political meetings that had been scheduled for the next few days have been cancelled. Shortly after the decree was announced 100 Hitler followers were arrested at Wuppertal, in the Rhineland, for wearing the banned Nazi uniform.

The Vossische Zeitung lauded the chancellor today as "a great man equal to a great task."

"Since yesterday," the newspapers said, "it can be felt that Germany is not being governed by a substitute for a cabinet of tomorrow, but by a man who in a decisive hour outgrows his seeming limitations and rises to great heights by tremendous power of will."

Commoner May Be Queen

MAGDA LUPESCU

KING CAROL

Magda Lupescu May Rule As Queen Of Rumanians

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Talk of Magda Lupescu as possible future common queen of Rumania entered the dispute of the royal brothers at Bucharest today and capital circles believed they saw indications that King Carol would not expel Prince Nikolaos for the latter's recent marriage to a commoner bride.

Foreign diplomats arriving at Paris reported Mme. Lupescu has forsaken Judaism and become a Christian with a view to qualifying herself to be queen.

At Bucharest, Prince Nikolaos was understood to have handed King Carol his renunciation of membership in the royal family and that the document was a copy of Carol's renunciation made under similar circumstances in 1925, when he was crown prince.

Premier Jorga denied the report, however, and the belief grew that Carol had determined not to exclude his brother.

by Foreign diplomats arriving from Bucharest.

It was understood in Bucharest, the report said, that a number of persons attached to the royal palace, on the grounds of which Mme. Magda is understood to live in a small house, already address her as "your majesty."

Nothing in the Rumanian constitution prevents her from occupying the golden throne once occupied by Dozager Queen Marie but it was rumored that Carol hesitated to conclude a formal marriage ceremony fearing the Rumanian people might be reluctant to accept a commoner queen.

Bucharest—(AP)—Determined to keep his commoner bride, the former Mme. Jana Lucia Deletj, Prince Nikolaos of Rumania, was understood today to have renounced membership in the royal family.

Premier Jorga, who was once King Carol's tutor, denied the report, which said the renunciation was a copy of a similar one presented by King Carol himself, under similar circumstances in 1926, when he was crown prince and before he went into exile.

It was believed, in view of the premier's denial, that Carol is determined now not to exclude his brother from the family, and wishes to allow him six months more in which to "think it over."

Expect To Employ 35 Additional Men To Handle Christmas Mail

SEASON WILL REACH HEIGHT ABOUT DEC. 21

Postmaster Says Men Without Jobs and With Families to Get Preference

Plans of Emmery A. Greunke, postmaster, for the annual Christmas rush at the Appleton post office, call for the employment of 35 additional men and the use of six extra trucks to handle the Christmas mail.

Mr. Greunke said that he has received scores of applications for jobs, and that the necessary additional men will be chosen from the list of applicants already on file. He said that the Christmas rush has not yet made itself felt at the post office but that it is expected to start in a few days. The peak probably will be reached between Dec. 17 and Dec. 22. Additional men will be added to the regular staff as soon as the Christmas rush begins.

At the present time there are 17 clerks, 23 carriers, four truckmen and 10 extra men employed. When the Christmas rush reaches its peak the department expects to employ 11 extra sub clerks, eight additional laborers, six additional trucks and truckmen and 10 truck helpers. The extra workers will be employed on an hourly basis, working only as long as they are needed.

The parcel post department again this year will be established in the basement, with the additional laborers being used to carry the packages up and down and to face mail. Postmaster Greunke said that in hiring the additional force this year special consideration will be given to those who have been out of work for a long period and to those who have large families.

MAKES RULING ON INDIAN CLAIMS

Attorney General Explains Status of Cases to Oneida Resident

Federal courts have jurisdiction to try an Indian for a crime committed against another Indian on an Indian reservation, according to an opinion today from John W. Reynolds, attorney general, to Oscar Smith, an Oneida Indian. Mr. Smith made inquiry with the department as to its authority to investigate and prosecute Indian claims in the northwestern states as it applies to the Oneida Indians.

Mr. Reynolds' opinion also points out that the federal courts have jurisdiction of a crime committed by one of Indian blood against an allottee Indian on his allotment. The opinion says further:

"The state courts have jurisdiction of offenses committed by Indians on land which is not a trust allotment carved out of an Indian reservation and of offenses committed by persons other than Indians not receiving ward Indians or trust property."

"The secretary of the interior determines who are the heirs of a deceased allottee. An allottee Indian can dispose of his property by will subject to the approval of the secretary of the interior."

BATTLE OF WORDS ON BETWEEN 2 PARTIES

Washington (AP)—Parliamentary debate already is in full flower in the house. Today, for example, Representative Wood, Indiana, Republican, observed:

"Yesterday's stock reached the lowest point of all time. If the mere threat of a Democratic legislative program had that what in God's name will carry it out?"

Representative Lewis, Maryland Democrat, brought a laugh when he interposed:

"The public was reading the president's message at the same time."

PUT OFF HEARING FOR COMMISSIONER OF POOR

The hearing of W. L. Lyons, commissioner of poor, before the poor committee was postponed Wednesday afternoon upon the request of Mr. Lyons, who asked that it be deferred because his attorney is ill. He refused to answer any questions without counsel.

Though the attorney has ruled that no hearing is necessary, it is probable that the poor committee will grant Mr. Lyons a chance to defend himself against the charges made against him. The hearing may be held at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Reports Show Alarming Shortage In Wild Fowl

BY B. A. CLAFIN

Increasing reports of the wild fowl shortage in the states where these birds prevail prove conclusively that an alarming shortage exists. In fact, one of the eminent authorities of Alberta states very emphatically that "the wild duck and wild geese are rapidly decreasing in numbers and extinction is in sight unless adequate measures for restoration are put under way in both Canada and the United States."

The fact that most of the waterfowl of this continent are raised in Canada, and that more than seventy-five percent of all the waterfowl taken by hunters are shot in the United States, makes no difference as to the proportion of responsibility of each country in efforts now being planned to save and restore waterfowl. The situation is such that each country is helpless in tackling the larger problem without the cooperation of the other. But it is imperative that it be made possible to consider the preservation of waterfowl as a continental problem of sportsmen, minus national, state and provincial boundaries.

The aspect, according to these in attendance at the big game conference just terminated in New York, demands that we concentrate on creating more inviolate breeding grounds in Canada and more protected refuges in the United States, and we coordinate our regulations in respect to bag limit, season length and opening and closing dates.

The sentiment of Canada reflects a desire on the part of sportsmen and sportsmen's groups to meet American sportsmen half way in working out any practical plan that may be adopted.

There is no question as to the actual shortage of wildfowl this year. Reports have come in showing that, as a whole, the shooting in the Illinois River bottoms where millions of ducks and geese have been shot in previous years, has been very disappointing this season.

From Utah the same complaint has come. Reports that I have seen indicate that not over one bird was bagged this year where formerly a hundred have been shot.

We know what it has been in Wisconsin. A far greater scarcity existed during the season just passed than has ever been known since history has recorded the resources of our state.

When eminent men of Canada come to the United States asking for cooperation it is time that we do something, and shortening bag limits and seasons will never bring the desired results.

SEN. WATSON MAY BE PRO TEM CHIEF

Republicans Talk of Shelving Moses—May Name McNary Floor Leader

Washington (AP)—A reorganization of the senate Republican machine threatened today to grow out of the deadlock which through two days of talking has prevented election of a president pro tempore.

As the issue was required, there was talk among Republicans of shelving Senator Watson of Indiana, the floor leader, for president pro tempore in place of McNary of New Hampshire, and of advancing McNary of Oregon to the leadership in Watson's place.

The group supporting the idea, although voting for Moses during the past two days, includes senators who are inclined to be sympathetic to the independent white fight against Moses has brought the deadlock.

There was no sign as the senate went at its first roll call today that the 13 western independents would not continue to divide their votes among other Republicans and thus prevent either Moses or Senator Putnam of Nevada, the Democratic candidate, from getting a majority of the votes cast.

pressure brought to bear from European quarters to have President Hoover call such a parley have been stoutly resisted on the grounds it is the function of Europe to convene the conference and, what is most important, make it a success.

Debate in House
The house voted to debate the memorandum as soon as reading of the message was completed. The Democrats designated Representative Rankin, Mississippi, to lead off—and attack on the Hoover proposal followed.

"As long as millions are unemployed, agriculture is distressed and the veterans are unpaid," Rankin declared, "congress can not vote to postpone or cancel a cent of these foreign obligations."

When Rankin asked "are you going to give a dime to these international bankers?" several "Noes" were heard from Republicans.

"All right, then, you aren't going to vote for this memorandum," replied the Democrats.

Discussing the debt, which topped other subjects debated Wednesday when Republicans charged Democratic speakers with favoring such legislation, Rankin said the Hawley-Smoot tariff was a dime to industry.

"The growth of millionsaires from 28 in 1921 to 511 in 1923 was due to the Forney-McCumber tariff," he continued.

BARTLE TO ADDRESS VALLEY COUNCIL AT MEETING TONIGHT

Kansas City, Mo., Scout Executive Is Outstanding Leader of Organization

One of the features of the annual meeting of the valley council of boy scouts at 6:30 Thursday evening at First Methodist Episcopal church will be an address by H. Roe Bartle, Kansas City, Mo., scout executive.

Mr. Bartle is recognized throughout the United States as one of the most outstanding scouting enthusiasts. He is an attorney by profession and a scout executive by choice.

Another feature of the program will be a historical pageant to be presented jointly by scouts from various troops in the council. The pageant will depict the trend of boyhood and manhood since the American Revolution. Various scout troops also are cooperating in an exhibition of handicraft projects which is to be displayed at the meeting.

Annual reports are to be thrown onto a screen through stereoscopic slides prepared by M. G. Clark, scout executive, and H. A. Schlicht. These slides will show the financial condition of the council, accounts of camping activities during the past summer, advancement and promotion in troop organizations, and national ratings of the council, and other information.

The program will open with a dinner in the church parlors. The business meeting will follow in the sub-auditorium of the church.

TWO AMERICANS WIN NOBEL PEACE PRIZE

Jane Addams and Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler Receive Award Jointly

Addams and Dr. Butler were two of the finest representatives of this idealism.

He praised Miss Addams as the possessor of the finest characteristics among the women who have worked for the cause of world peace. Dr. Butler, he said, has been carrying on the work simultaneously with Miss Addams and it was his who induced Andrew Carnegie to establish the large fund for international reconciliation in 1910.

It is fitting, he declared, that Aristotle Briand and two other peace prize winners, Sir Austen Chamberlain and Elihu Root should have made themselves spokesmen for the award now made to Dr. Butler. He credited Dr. Butler with having influenced American opinion in favor of cooperation between France and the United States for the outlawing of war.

FARMERS VOTE TO ORGANIZE STUDY CLUBS

I. F. Hall, Agricultural Economist, to Assist in Management Work

BY W. F. WINSEY

Hortonville — Selling cows, buying feed, the farm outlook for 1932, feeding cows this winter, farm management, and 4-H club work were discussed at the Wednesday session of the two-days farm institute, planned by County Agent G. A. Sell, sponsored by the Commercial club and held in the Opera house here. One hundred fifty farmers took part in the discussions. At noon a dinner was served by the commercial club.

The speakers were Mr. Sell, C. H. Imig, a farmer of Junction City and an institute conductor, and I. F. Hall, an agricultural economist of the college of agriculture. At the close of Mr. Hall's talk on Farm Management the farmers voted to organize Farm Management Study Clubs in Outagamie county and to invite Mr. Hall to assist the groups. Mr. Hall promised the farmers to be on hand during April to give 4-H club statistics for the year. Mr. Sell said: "If you know of any other community in Outagamie county that desires either a girls' or boys' 4-H club organized, I wish you would notify Miss Harriet Thompson, home economics agent, or the county agent."

"Last summer was the driest that I ever experienced in my farm operations," Mr. Imig said in his talk on Shall We Keep or Sell Our Cows? "I estimate less than one cow before and yet I have the same number of cows."

"I picked out some of the poorest cows in my herd to sell and called up the livestock buyer who said he would give 1 1/2 cents per pound. 'Up to the time of that offer I had been accustomed to get at least $125 for a cow.'"

"As you know a farmer never sets a price on a cow but always asks the livestock buyer: what will you give me? I did not know what the stock buyer had invited arrived and inquired how much I wanted for my cows."

"About the time of that dickering, a son-in-law loaded four of his surplus cows and a calf on a truck and started for Milwaukee to cut out all freight and handling charges on his animals and to get the maximum prices. His average was $9 each from the animals at the stockyards or a total of $54."

"The question is whether we shall keep our cows or give them away. I keep my cows and have them yet because I never wanted to say that I sold a $125 cow at 1 1/2 cents per pound."

"We should raise more alfalfa and larger yields of corn and grain so that we might feed our cows economically in times of depression like these. and not be compelled to buy feed."

He told of a farmer on a 30 acre farm with nine cows who raised alfalfa enough to cover the cost of his cows and a surplus to sell. He advised fitting the soil and raising more alfalfa, testing cows for production and disposing of all 100 and 130 pound cows that are fed and cared for at a loss.

Using the Feed Buyer's Guide, published by the College of Agriculture, Mr. Imig showed the farmers how to figure out the most economical dairy ration based on home-grown grains and roughages.

Traces Farm Prices
By a series of charts the price of several farm products were traced through a period of over 50 years by I. F. Hall. Comparison of our present situation was also made with a similar situation during and after the wars of 1812, 1850 and the world war.

The striking feature of prices in the United States are the rise in prices during the war of 1812, the civil war and the world war. In each case a great rise in prices was followed by a corresponding great drop. In each case the rise in price was due to monetary inflation and the decline to deflation.

Inflation can occur through an increase of gold or an increase of paper. The United States had both. During the world war most countries ceased to use gold as money. Large quantities moved to the United States and made gold cheap or prices high. The United States also issued large amounts of paper currency in relation to the gold supply.

Since the war, one after another of the countries of the world have been trying to reestablish gold reserves. World stocks of gold are not increased as fast as the world's growth of business.

The countries of the world have agreed to pay vast sums of gold in interest and principal payments. These countries expected to pay these debts with commodities. Now that gold is so valuable it is not possible to pay with commodities so they have shipped gold to pay their debts. The supply of gold is too small to go very far in paying these obligations. Gold then becomes scarce and more valuable and prices go still lower.

Adjustment Needed
It will be a number of years before all the persons with small equities have found a way of paying. While the adjustment is taking place the constructive industry will be depressed.

The agricultural situation is such that farm prices have been very low relative to production costs. Farm prices rose in November, however.

The future outlook seems to be for a continuation of low prices but with a greater drop in non-agricultural prices than in farm prices. This will low production costs on the farm and tend to raise farm profits.

The biggest drawback to agriculture is the unjust tax system, and the heavy indebtedness on farms. It now takes three times as much farm products to pay some of these high overhead costs as formerly.

The dairy situation is now in the period of low purchasing power. The higher periods occur at 15 year intervals, namely 1870, 1885, 1900, 1920 and probably in 1945.

We shall probably receive low prices for dairy cows for a number of years in comparison to other commodities.

The time is probably very favorable for the young man to get started in farming now or during the next 4 or 5 years. He should remember that a farm is worth more than what it will sell for. The future farm prices will probably be much lower than we have been receiving during the past 15 years, but production costs on farms will run lower than in the past. Farms will sell at pre-war prices or lower.

CHAIN BANKING BILL DEBATED IN COMMITTEE

Senate Group Hears Pro and Con Arguments on Proposed Law

Madison (AP)—The senate committee on corporations and taxation had under consideration today arguments for and against the administration bill to restrict chain banking in Wisconsin.

The measure, introduced by Senator Walter S. Rush, Progressive, provides for establishing from 20 to 35 clearing house associations to be used solely by unit banks and clearing chain banks the privilege of receiving public monies. Group banks also would be denied certain fiduciary privileges extended only to members of the clearing house associations.

Assemblymen J. W. Grobshmidt of Milwaukee, and M. D. Goff of Sturgeon Bay, members of the interim committee on whose report the bill was based, spoke in favor of the measure.

Grobshmidt admitted the constitutional question of legislation prohibiting chain banks was considered doubtful by the committee but said the underlying idea was to formulate effective restrictions against the group banks. Goff said the committee was of the opinion something should be done to curb chain banking but that the question was open to debate.

Among those who spoke in opposition of the bill were Louis Schreiber of the First National bank of Oshkosh; R. B. Perry of Reedsburg, member of the Wisconsin Bankshares group; Neut Anderson, the Union National bank of Eau Claire; Harry D. Baker, St. Croix Falls banker; E. C. Dempsey, president of the Board of Normal School Regents, and W. E. Norris of Elmhurst.

Alleges Discrimination
Perry described the measure a discrimination "against one of the best movements the Wisconsin banks have seen better methods are being practiced in the communities where there are Bankshares units," he said.

Anderson protested against denial of public deposits to chain banks. He said unfortunate conditions had forced the closing of all but the chain banks in Eau Claire.

He said, he considered the Union National bank, as a taxpayer, equally entitled to public deposits as any other bank.

Baker charged that provisions for clearing house associations would give the banking commissioner arbitrary power in setting up the lines for district associations.

Schreiber declared the bill is fundamentally unsound, that it will not help the independents and that it is unfair to group banking which, he said, "has added competing banks indirectly by taking up millions in loans that local banks could not handle."

The committee also conducted a hearing on Senator V. Kappeler's measure proposing reorganizing of the banking department and establishment of a banking review board to advise the state banking commissioner.

Both bills will be considered later at an executive session of the committee.

POLLOCK'S PLAY FRIDAY NIGHT AT LAWRENCE CHAPEL

Dramatist Has Shown Outstanding Enthusiasm for Theatre

Few dramatists show as much enthusiasm for the theater as does Channing Pollock, whose latest stage success, "The House Beautiful," is to be presented at the Lawrence chapel, Friday evening.

Pollock left the Prague Polytechnic in 1895 and came home from Austria to become dramatic editor of the Washington Post, and from that day to this he has literally lived for the theater as critic, press representative, general manager for William A. Brady productions, author of more than a score of plays and musical show librettos. And in between these tasks he has found time to deliver hundreds of lectures on modern drama in general and his own plays in particular. He helped to found the Friars, which is today the most robust of the New York theatrical clubs; he has served as vice president of the Authors' League of America and as director of its first season, the British Society of Authors; he has told the story of the twentieth century American theater, as he has in "The Footlights—Fore and Aft"; he has drawn around him what might be called the "Channing Pollock Boosters" club, on whose roster are inscribed the names of Nicholas Murray Butler, Rupert Hughes, Augustus Thomas, Jesse L. Lasky, President Daniel A. Foote of the Christian Endeavor, Prof. William Lyon Phelps of Yale, and other representative Americans.

All this nationwide enthusiasm over the Pollock plays has been stirred up by "The Fool," "The Enemy," "Mr. Moneybags" and now by "The House Beautiful," plays which reflect the dramatist's personality and philosophy; for this big six-footer, built like a football guard, is the embodiment of romance, light-mindedness and what may be called every day idealism. He has frankly expressed himself in his recent plays and at the same time made a place for himself among the most popular living playwrights.

MILK PRICES ARE CENT UNDER PREVIOUS MONTH

Madison—(P)—The federal and Wisconsin crop reporting service in a bulletin released today said November milk prices in the state maintained an average at $1.28 per hundred pounds, one cent under the previous month. November butter prices at Chicago were three cents under October and cheese declined about a cent and a quarter a pound.

Contrary to most years when the milk prices have hit the peak during December and January, the bulletin said, during times of depression the peak for the year was in October.

The level of farm prices for the state dropped from 22 per cent of pre-war in October to 91 in November. Grain and poultry prices showed increases, however for the first time in 14 months in the case of grain. Nationally, farm prices were on the upward trend, the bulletin said. In October the level for the nation was 68 per cent of the 1910-14 average and in November it rose to 71 per cent.

Shooting Recalls Two-Gun Days Of Pioneer Texas

Alpine, Texas—(P)—Violent deaths in the early days of Texas were recalled by pioneers as Graham Barnett, 41, two gun man and former peace officer, was buried here Tuesday, the victim of sub-machine gun.

Speaking of machine guns and "public enemies," Texas officers had 3,000 names on the outlaw list in 1875. Officers, citizens and bandits alike were victims of the gunplay which made history.

Barnett was slain in his motor car by Sheriff W. C. Fowler of Uptonco at Rankin, Texas, in a personal quarrel. Sheriff Fowler said it had grown out of his refusal to lend money to the ex-ranger and former deputy sheriff.

For the first—and last time in his career, Barnett failed to get into action with sufficient rapidity.

Seven machine gun bullets struck him before he could fire any of the four weapons, including an automatic pistol, with which he was armed. Sheriff Fowler faces a murder charge.

Thus Barnett, who was tried and acquitted on charges of slaying two men, joins frontier fighters in death. Jim Fox, bad man and Nell Black, gambler, were mutual critics. Black didn't like the way Fox got the notches on his guns.

"Jim Fox," the gambler announced one day, "is a cowardly killer of unarmed men."

Fox heard about it. Black got his a few days later as he was drinking in a bar at Riddellville, Texas. The gunman beat him to the draw.

Espino, notorious Mexican cattle thief of the seventies, ran a herd across the Rio Grande one night into territory of a ranger force headed by Capt. L. H. McNeill.

Surprised in camp, he made the mistake of reaching for a gun. McNeill shot him down.

There was Sam Bass, who may have been born in Indiana as cowboys assert, but was better known in Texas and range country to the north.

Sam held up trains for a living, when he wasn't crooking cattle. One of the outlaw's men and a deputy sheriff also were killed.

Many others, of more or less note, died with their boots on and their slayers were praised or prosecuted, according to circumstances.

JOHNSON OPENS FIGHT AGAINST MORATORIUM

Washington—(P)—A fight against the Hoover moratorium was begun in the senate Wednesday by Senator Johnson, Republican, California, with introduction of a resolution directing an investigation into the sale of foreign securities in this country.

The Californian asked the senate for immediate adoption of the resolution but Senator Warren, the Republican leader, insisted it go over a day in accordance with senate rules.

President Hoover will send to congress tomorrow the one year moratorium proposal for ratification. More than enough votes for its ratification have been pledged.

The Johnson resolution would direct the senate finance committee to make immediate inquiry into the relation of American banks and bankers to the foreign securities market.

He told the senate in the brief discussion that "this is essential in the consideration of legislation soon to be before us."

THE PROGRAM OF THE PRESIDENT

Someone declared that this will be known as the congress of panaceas because of the likelihood of hundreds of magic formulas being advanced in the attempt to rejuvenate the country so that it may not only arise but pick up its bed and walk.

From the President's message it is clear that he will have no hand and take no part in any of these alleged figments of the imagination. His plan may not arouse long and continued applause. It may not even quicken the pulse. But insofar as it goes it is sound and earnest. In large part it is the plan of "sit tight and don't rock the boat." The President doesn't intend to make much headway while the hurricane is blowing. He is following the practice of the mariner who finds it easiest to ride a heavy sea at low speed.

Income taxes must be raised but the blow there will be softened by making the raise only for two years. Then of course it can stop—if the depression has stopped.

The government's own efforts in aid of employment by the extension of public building and construction works are portrayed in figures. During 1928 it was 260 millions. During 1931 it will reach about 780 millions. That is good work. We do not believe a dollar of it has been wasted.

The President goes right to the heart of all things in the country when he approaches our financial system. Many of his suggestions in this regard are wise but the implication that we may need "an enlargement of branch banking" even with the modification that it will be done "under proper restriction" is a worn out fallacy. We have banks right here and out in the country that are just as strong as any of the ancient and enormous banking institutions in New York or elsewhere. The elements that make a banking institution strong begin at the basement. Does it go after big profits, attempt to court popularity, try to make a splurge, or keep both eyes steadily on safety? There isn't any other standard by which to judge a bank.

Little of the President's formula is contained in detail. Most of his recommendations are broad and general. The work is laid on congressional desks and the direction is indicated.

Opinion therefore must be reserved as to such matters as establishing home loan banks until the details come through. The same observation must apply to the "liberalization of reserve bank rules," the revision of interstate commerce laws to help solve the railway problem, as well as the revision of anti-trust laws to hold that prime necessity called competition but to prevent, if possible, some of its burdensome and killing inequalities.

The President's direction of attention to the railways was apt and urgent. His detailed explanation of the extent to which this "backbone of our transportation system" is interrelated with all of our lives, our industries, our jobs and our homes was worth while. The underlying securities of these great arteries of travel make up a substantial part of the investments of many of our great insurance companies, and determine the rates of premiums we pay and the dividends we get upon policies. Nothing could more clearly bring the truth before us, that the railroads are upon the front steps of every man's home and the necessity of securing for them the just treatment which has been in some measure denied through loading them with exasperating burdens, so many of which have not improved service but only cost them money, and open our eyes to the grim reality of a condition that confronts us.

It may be that congress will be a congress of panaceas but it will have to override the President to accomplish anything of the wild and incoherent class. Yet we expect nothing of that kind because it has a great majority of sensible men.

THE SAME FIGURES

Senator Gerald P. Nye in a long and interesting article appearing in last Sunday's New York Herald-Tribune entitled "What the Progressives Want" used some of the statistics employed by Governor LaFollette in his recent message to the Wisconsin legislature although for a different and more accurate purpose.

In discussing the business depression and conditions of unemployment Senator Nye declares that men of conservative or reactionary political belief say that nothing can be done about it, whereas "the Progressives say that something not only can be done about it, but should be done about it." The Progressives point, continues the senator, "to the fact that while wages decreased 11 billions in 1930, interest and dividend payments to owners of industry actually increased half a billion dollars. If business is able to build up huge reserves for times of decreased trade, why should not labor be provided with similar reserves?"

It is proper to link interest payments with dividend payments if we seek to establish the strength of an industry as heretofore established.

Senator Nye, we think, gives the correct interpretation to the fact that business and industry in this country paid out in interest charges an enormously increased amount during 1930 over previous and prosperous years. The fact is that many industries did build reserves and became strong so that when lean years were at hand they had the security, the stability and had established the confidence necessary to induce bankers to advance large sums to them to carry on.

But right here emphasis should be placed upon the fact that these reserves, which in fact are profits from previous years, were not used in this respect for the mere benefit of stockholders but for the mutual advantage of employees and management. Governor LaFollette used this increased interest item as an argument to indicate that business was still in a thriving condition, whereas such a conclusion certainly cannot be drawn from the increased amounts paid out as interest on the climbing sums borrowed.

As a matter of fact in some industries the shrinkage has been more acute and desperate than the price of farm products or farm lands. The great increase in the amount of interest paid out, if we are going to juggle with figures a bit ourselves, might be more accurately read as having been caused by the determination of industry to keep operating so as to employ men even when salesmen's orders were blank.

MANY SNAPPY RETURNS

To have the latest style in snappy come-backs begets the admiration of those who depend upon this form of speech to display the radiant brilliance of their conversation.

Many are the wisecracks that have taken up the slack in the mental vacuity of individuals deftly seeking the proper retort courteous.

The originator of the old stand-by, "Is zat so?" provided humanity with a means of satisfactory repartee without telling all he knew, and deserves honorable mention by those who advocate brevity as the soul of wit.

But linguists who feel they must still further shorten their wit, yet be in the latest style, by giving expression to that bright and sparkling crack, "Oh, yeah," will be surprised to learn that its inventor has put over an exceedingly fast one. There is nothing new about it. It is moth-eaten and its style is of very ancient vintage.

A speaker at the National Council of Teachers of English meeting at Milwaukee recently, asserted that this expression, at least the "yeah" part, was in vogue in the Anglo-Saxon tongue at the time of Beowulf fourteen hundred years ago. He adds that the "yeah" of the Bible carries it much further back into antiquity.

So those of the "Oh, yeah" gentry, instead of being right up to the minute in the latest vernacular, are quoting the classics, a most distressing situation. They are again with Nineveh and Tyre.

Russian eggs can be preserved for twelve months due, it is said, to the way the hens are allowed to run wild and forage for themselves. The hens get tough, but so do the eggs.

Lions in captivity are said to grow better manes than those living in a wild state.

The population of the world is increasing at a rate of over 12,000,000 a year.

THERE really was some snow yesterday . . . and we were glad to see it . . . it may stop all these stories about flowers and blossoms and such at this time of the year . . . as our Aunt Mathilda of White Haven, Pennsylvania used to say, "it just ain't moral!" Just yesterday we picked a nice bouquet of black-eyed Susans on December 1st . . . right out in her back yard . . . now small boys can make snowballs . . . in fact, the air was full of 'em Wednesday . . . and not such small boys, either . . . on North Superior street we had to dodge around a snowball which stood at least three feet high and just about as big around and weighed a lot of pounds . . . to hit it would have been like running into a boulder . . . the youngsters are getting absent-minded—leaving snowballs that size in the middle of the street . . .

An Open Letter to Prexy Hoover

Dear Herb:
We see where Wall Street didn't get cheered up by your message to Congress and that stock and wheat prices went down. Just how, we don't know, because they're all in the basement anyway. Anyway, Herb, we have an idea for you. Don't tell Congress anything. Keep 'em guessing. Be like Cal Coolidge who never said anything and who saw the country go nutty with prosperity. You ought to know by now, Herb, that no matter how right you are, when you say anything, somebody's sure to show you where you're all wrong.

Heap Big Chief Twyckenham

Heard the true story about the gent who happened to stop in Sherwood one day and got to talking with one of the Sherwoodians.

"Why," asked the gent, thinking about Sherwood Forest, Robin Hood and such typically English things, "is this town named Sherwood when you have such a large German population?"

"Didn't you know?" asked the Sherwoodian. "Why this is an old Indian village."

Now that the gent in Pittsburgh has broken his leg turning over in bed and the lady in Nebraska has had one twin in her home state and the other in Sioux City, Iowa, what have other localities to offer? Don't forget what the true situation epidemic brought on—with one locality trying to outdo the other.

Not satisfied with having gone over the top in its cash drive, Green Bay has organized a swiftest plan which will keep 200 men at work all winter at least at a living wage. Each block is organized and one man will perform all the odd jobs in that neighborhood—guaranteeing him at least 40 hours of work a week, for the next five months.

TO AN OLD HAT

Old hat, I've fought from day to day,
Against cynicism defied you,
In spite of all she's had to say,
In ridicule and hate and scorn.
I've clung to you from day to day
The friendliest hat I've ever worn.

Two years ago she called you old,
Like water off a gosling's back,
Has flowed the flood of her attack,
To you tenaciously I've clung
Because, old hat, you suited me,
But now I do as I am told
And here's the parting of the ways!

I've paid no heed to slander's tongue
Like water off a gosling's back,
Has flowed the flood of her attack,
To you tenaciously I've clung
Because, old hat, you suited me,
But now I do as I am told
And here's the parting of the ways!

I've gone as far as I can go,
Now for the sake of peace I quit
And to her orders I submit.
She thinks that hats are made for show,
Her choice is always for the new.
She hates the sight of you, and so
Regretfully I part from you.

Personal Health Talks

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Naty Physician and Author

THE DOGS AND THE ORTHODOX

September 2 we printed a note in this column to this effect: I shall be glad to give the formula to any medical colleague who asks for it AND ENCLOSE A STAMPED ENVELOPE BEARING HIS ADDRESS. I cannot give the technique of the ambulant treatment for hernia—the only way a doctor can get that, I believe, is by taking personal clinical instruction from a colleague who is skilled in the method.

That offer let us in for a lot of gratuitous work.

In the first place, a lot of near-doctors, drugless healers, quacks of various types, had the gall to ask for the formula. These had short shrift. When I say medical colleague I don't mean trick healer or short-cut "doctor." I mean a regular physician. When I say colleague I don't mean any quack or obscure or shady practitioner; I mean a doctor of medicine of good professional standing.

Even after separating the sheep from the goats, I found a huge stack of letters from regular physicians of good professional standing who wished to know the formula I have seen used with satisfactory results in the injection treatment of hernia. But approximately 95 per cent of all regular physicians of good standing seem to hail from Glasgow or else from East Wallingford, Connecticut.

For only 2 per cent of 'em sent along a stamped envelope bearing the return address. The rest evidently assumed I'd be so flattered by their notice that I'd be only too happy to pay the postage and write out the address. If any of these tight ones really want the formula they'll have to squander 2 cents and a bit of their own time for it. We radical doctors really don't care much now whether the orthodox trail along with us or stick right where they are. We have the interior fittings—AND the professional standing, and no one can do anything about it.

Incidentally I believe it would be for the good of the order if many of the orthodox would send down their clear bills and subscribe to one or two good medical journals and look them over now and then and learn what's going on in medicine. This applies especially to the orthodox who have such rackets as the "clinics" to help them bamboozle the blind of old public, the wisecrack public.

In the same talk, September 22, I said I am not yet prepared to give correspondents the names of physicians who are using the ambulant or injection treatment for hernia, but that I expected to have a list of names before very long.

Well, my list at present is not by any means complete, but I do know of a good man here and there about the country who is qualified to give clear bills, and I shall be glad to name the nearest physician I know for correspondents who seek this treatment.

Any doctor who is capable of giving the scroscoring or obliterating injections for varicose veins can give this injection treatment for hernia in his office, without detaining the patient from his regular occupation.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
How Much Water to Drink
Please state the quantity of water a sedentary adult should take daily. I seldom want a drink of water, but I suppose one should take a certain amount whether thirsty or not. (A. X. R.)

Answer—I depends on the humidity of the air, your general activity, and the quantity of water you get in or with food. I cannot say that it is advisable to drink any water if you are not thirsty. As a rule adults should drink from one to two glasses of water with every meal, or just before the meal—this stimulates the secretion of gastric juice, the appetite and the digestion. The common notion that water with or after meals "dilutes the gastric juice" and so retards digestion has been found untrue. Vigorous adults or children should drink cold water, not too cold. Feeble or elderly folk may prefer hot water.

Dope for Youth
We hear a lot of howls about it, but some of us boys and girls will believe it when Old Doc Brady says

so. Now please tell us what is the dope on cigarettes. (E. S. S.)

Answer—I believe the dope is in 'em, not on 'em. The dope is tobacco. Tobacco is dope for boys and girls. Very bad dope. I am sure it is better for any boy or girl not to indulge in tobacco before the age of 21 years, or better, I believe, 25 years, for many have not developed to adulthood before the age of 25 years. I have done. So you will very shortly learn that I'll do something in return. I have a plan that I am sure you'll think a lot of fun.

"Well, say, that's fine! What do you plan?" cried Coppy. "I'll do all I can to make it lots of fun for everybody in this bunch. Just lead the way. We'll trail along and may be break out in a song. I'm anxious now to find out all about your little bunch."

So, as they wandered down the street, the Tinies' voices, soft and sweet, began to bring forth harmony. 'Twas very nice to hear. "Where we are bound for we don't know. But what's the difference, on we go! We know it will be some place else because it isn't here."

Scouty asked the pup to follow. His song was quite an awful thing. There were not many words at all. Just howling, very loud! He did it till it made him puff. Then Clowdy shouted, "That's enough! I fear you'll break the eardrums of this happy little crowd."

And then they reached the big surprise. It was a treat for all their eyes. "Just look ahead," the pup exclaimed. "What is it that you see?" "A circus tent," one Tiny cried. "Oh gee, come on, let's go inside! A circus underneath a tent is always great to me."

They reached the tent and looked around and shortly heard a funny sound. "That is a little hard inside," said Scouty with a grin. "This is a wonderful place to halt and it will be our own sweet fault if we don't have a real good time, when once we all are in."

"Well, say, that's fine! What do you plan?" cried Coppy. "I'll do all I can to make it lots of fun for everybody in this bunch. Just lead the way. We'll trail along and may be break out in a song. I'm anxious now to find out all about your little bunch."

RUSS COUNTER REVOLT

On Dec. 10, 1917, a counter revolt in southeastern Russia was aimed at seizing authority in that section and cutting off food supplies from Siberia.

The revolt was led by Generals Kaledine, Dutoff and Korniloff. The Rumanians were forced by the Russians to sign an armistice.

A despatch from Jassy, Rumania, stated that an armistice for three months between the Germans and Russian forces, taking in also the Russians on the Rumanian front had been agreed upon.

Spain announced that the Spanish steamship Claudio had been bombarded by a German submarine. Eight sailors were killed and several wounded.

Observation trenches, lost by the Italians east of Capo Sile, on the lower Piave line, were retaken by the Italian forces.

A Bystander In Washington

By HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington — A young fellow around Washington pretty soon will be hanging up some sort of a record for "official sleuthing" if the senate persists in its fondness for investigations.

His name is John Holland of Montana, a sort of "Doctor Watson" for the senate's foremost investigator—Thomas J. Walsh of Montana.

Holland digs up the evidence. Walsh takes it, puts it together and flings it ruthlessly in the face of the witness before him at the moment.

The two have been remarkably successful thus far. They worked together in the famous Teapot Dome investigation and what they accomplished the world is history. They are together in the now almost concluded lobby investigation where, too, they have made themselves felt.

Walsh has another job, but he isn't so much with him on it. He so impressed Senator Felt with his sleuthing that the Wisconsin man hired him to help uncover any fraud that may exist in postoffice leases.

Started As Clerk
It was Walsh who first brought young Holland to Washington from Montana. Barely past 30, he came to the capitol several years ago to be a clerk in the Montana senator's office.

Walsh made him his right-hand man when he started on the Teapot Dome investigation and has pressed him into service since when he was in need of an evidence getter.

In fact, Holland was working quietly in the prohibition bureau at New York when the senate ordered its investigation of lobbying in the capitol. Immediately he sent for Holland and requested that he get to work.

With the public praise of his work on Teapot Dome by Walsh still in his ears, Holland set to work. The late Senator Cawaway of Arkansas was chairman of the lobby committee, but Walsh was just as active. When Holland appeared before the committee the other day and bared alleged paper sugar profits of several senators and others, prominent in public life, it was Walsh, acting chairman, that he told his story.

Persistent
He has the reputation of being one of the government's—more particularly the senate's—leading investigators. He has been so recognized both by those who have employed him and those whom he has investigated.

Quiet, modest and congenial, he has little about him to suggest the "sleuth." Perhaps his outstanding qualities are persistence and thoroughness. He seems to overlook nothing in his quest for evidence. For more than two years he has been investigating lobbying. The evidence he gave the committee the other day was the result of a search started last May.

He is unmarried, and when not sleuthing in Washington he lives at home with his mother in New York.

Seen And Heard In New York

BY WILLIAM GAINES

New York—It is not unusual when the so-called literary "tea" are boring, even if the guests are served with something more stimulating than tea.

But it is with sadness I report the consensus that the affair honoring Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Milne was one of the most boring of them all. And if you accept the consensus, Milne himself may have had something to do with the sad state of things. He, it is said, is a teetotaler and so tea was served.

Possibly the enjoyment of traditional teas has been cultivated in certain circles of American society, but to American writing folk they palpably remain a pain in the neck. As usual, the Milne tea drew an assortment of a few really literary, more semi-literary and some totally "illiterary" persons.

Mrs. Milne was most gracious. She did not seem to be so fidgety and uncomfortable as her spouse.

The Milnes verses for children became a topic of talk, were praised, and she appeared to appreciate this. "Yes, when you read them long before they became popular, you knew they would live," she commented.

Out of A Pipe
The verses as you probably know, appeared in Punch before they came out in book form—also some of them were in the St. Nicholas magazine here.

When Milne was introduced to the guests he made a matter or so of studiously polite approval, then said more audibly, "but I'm not going to do any more children's verses." He seemed sincerely eager to get that off his chest, which was strange considering the fun he had doing them.

Milne and some other writers were at tea together one afternoon a number of years ago. Not a set tea; just following the old English custom in a London tea room.

A poetess told the group how she was planning to start a magazine for children and asked Milne if he would do something for it.

It was impossible, he could no more write for children than he could—well, he couldn't even think of an adequate comparison. Anyway he was concerned with a play at the time.

Just a week later came the first few children's verses Milne ever wrote. Accompanying them was a note to the poetess, saying that after their talk he had sat down, lighted his pipe and suddenly it all appeared ridiculously easy for him. He banged out the verses and found it great sport.

Burlesque Tea
A "tea" more amusing than the average was one in honor of Bernard Sobel, the ex-college professor now press agent for a girl show.

Bernie has written an erudite but exhilarating history of burlesque. The tea was on a whole floor of one of the most fashionable filling stations in town, and the guest list included such burlesque belles as Rose Sybil, Annie Ashley (known as "Gunboat Sal") and Viola Hastings.

This party really did fetch in the names—big shots of Broadway as well as the book world. Some of the beauties from Bernie's show accompanied their public relations counsel, and stole the center of attention from the burlesque celebrities.

Barbs
Pennsylvania Legionnaires sent a piece of coal to a trophy to California. They didn't mean anything.

Drinkers, says a headline, pay one-fifth of Britain's taxes. Well, over there it's "Ale, ale, the gang's all here."

Bald men are stampeding a Chicago doctor who has discovered how to grow hair. Evidently all hair-minded.

South Carolina in 1787 passed a law classing actors as vagrants. Must have foreseen this depression.

If the first quarrel is the key to married life, there's a catch in it somewhere.

At least the guy that's "just a gigolo" is making a living in his time.

Sing Sing prison has a football team. All you have to do to be eligible is commit a crime.

Headline: Alabama Toasts Ohio. My gosh, is it still hot in Alabama?

evidence he gave the committee the other day was the result of a search started last May.

BRIDGE MARATHON BETWEEN EXPERTS RESUMED TONIGHT

Followers of Two Camps
Busy Arguing Merits of Two Systems

New York —(P)— After a night watchman's holiday proponents of rival systems of contract bridge will resume their marathon challenge match tonight.

Sidney S. Lenz, ace of the "Official" system, card handler extraordinaire, golfer, bowler and what not, trained for renewal of hostilities by playing Camels and chess with Jose Capablanca and then some contract at the Knickerbocker Whist club.

His young partner, Oswald Jacoby, former Columbia football player, devoted some thought to the offensive defense that he and Foxy Lenz have been displaying brilliantly. They don't hesitate to be set on hand after hand in the hope of winning a rubber eventually. And Jacoby is usually the boy who does the heavy backfield work in such situations. It is as if he let a football team be penalized to the limit by failing to complete forward passes only to get away with one for a touchdown on the last attempt.

Culbertson had engagements for at least four lectures on his specialty between the conclusion of the tenth rubber of the 12 rubber match early Wednesday morning and the beginning of the eleventh rubber with the 60th deal tonight.

Mrs. Culbertson devoted all her spare time to Joyce and "Jump-bid" Culbertson, the children.

Lenz and Jacoby are 2,075 points in the lead, an advantage over which the Culbertsons profess not to worry in the least. In fact the trailers in a nineteenth-hole contract match after a golf foursome hardly would be perturbed over a 2,000 point disadvantage if the night were young and nobody came from a telephone saying "this is the missus calling." A couple of pianola hands can offset such a lead in no time at all.

Point to Example
"Officials" and some neutrals have seen no fundamental contracts in effectiveness of bidding systems, but the Culbertson camp has. It often deal 55, the second hand of the tenth rubber, in which Jacoby contracted for four hearts and made seven. Through the honor tricks valuation of the Culbertson system, say his followers, a mere typo in the system would have bid a little slam. The hand:

Neither side was vulnerable.
The bidding: West pass; North one club; East pass; South two hearts; West pass; North two spades; East pass; South three hearts; West pass; North three spades; East pass; South three hearts; West pass; North four hearts, the contract.

Once a finesse from the North hand in diamonds caught the king from East and it was a laydown for seven tricks. The grand slam should not have been bid because success depended on a finesse.

Here is how Culbertson would have bid the North and South cards: North one club; South two hearts; North two spades; South three hearts; North five hearts; South six hearts. The bidding would have indicated a combined honor.

Such bidding necessarily indicates the combined strength of the hands in at least seven honor tricks, which Culbertson calculates is in the slam zone. The main fault in the bidding of this hand in the match lay with Lenz, say Culbertsonites, because he failed to indicate that his hand was much stronger than the minimum requirements for an original bid of one.

TOWNS CAN'T USE STATE FUNDS TO REMOVE SNOW

Towns cannot use the $50 per mile allotted to towns and villages from the state road fund for removal of snow, according to an opinion from John W. Reynolds, attorney general. The opinion was sought by several assemblymen who pointed out that the cost of snow removal is burdensome to towns and that they should be permitted to use these funds instead of having to collect a direct levy for the purpose.

Stronger Naturalization Laws Requested By Doak

Washington —(P)— Secretary Doak wants stiffer naturalization laws.

His first annual report, sent Wednesday to President Hoover, proposed that the alien be required to be as bright as a 14-year-old public school student and to be able to know English before he can be sworn to citizenship.

This would tremendously reduce the numbers naturalized. At present, a foreign-born person must reside in this country five years but there is no language requirement.

"To me," wrote Doak, "it seems that such a person when admitted to citizenship can make no definite contribution to the national well-being. Citizenship in this way is cheapened and cheapened even in the eyes of the alien applicant himself."

The secretary of labor also urged that congress enact a law for fingerprinting of those naturalized, and the retention by the government of enemies of the country, requires greater effort than in the case of any other class. Their activities are carried on in such an insidious manner that necessary proof is difficult to uncover.

"Even in cases where guilt is clearly shown, deportation proceeding are hampered by every possible resort to the courts and by persistent propaganda on the part of un-American organizations of American citizens.

"They are constant in their defense of violent activities. They encourage the theory that even aliens have an inherent right to engage in seditious acts of every sort against our government."

BURGLAR YIELDS TO MORPHEUS AND COPS AS HE TIRES ON JOB

Chicago —(P)— When Edward Coates sleeps he sleeps, and business, if any, must wait.

The particular business in which Mr. Coates was engaged was a burglary expedition, the police said, for which he had equipped himself with a shotgun and a pistol.

His first visit was to the home of Michael Gilmore. There he crawled through an open window and tiptoed to a spare bedroom, where Mrs. Effie Martin, a guest, was sleeping. But Mr. Coates was tired and sleepy, so he lay down on the unoccupied side of the bed, placed his shotgun on his chest and was soon in slumberland, an alcoholic drowsiness, the police said, having made this quickly possible.

Mr. Coates snored so loudly that Mrs. Martin was awakened. She screamed, the police came. They shook Mr. Coates.

"What time is it?" he inquired, as he opened his eyes.

"Time to go to jail," one of the officers replied, and that is where Mr. Coates went.

Fear Kills Life Spirit In Children

BY ANGELO PATRI

There is a lot of unnecessary suffering caused by long hours of apprehension. Worry wastes more energy than work ever does. Little children do more worrying than we like to think about and if we were a little bit more thoughtful we might save them a good deal of it by getting over the hard places as soon as possible.

If you make an appointment with the dentist for a child make it for the early hours in the morning. Nine o'clock is a good time but two o'clock is a bad time unless you can keep the appointment a secret until after one. Give the child as little time as possible to worry. Tell him sufficiently ahead of time to allow him to gather himself together and go ahead.

Morning is the best time for a hard job. The child is fresh. He has the long night's rest and peace still in his body and what is better in his mind. If he has to go through the day performing his usual tasks, getting more and more worried, more and more weary hour by hour, he will be in bad shape for the dentist.

If a child has a duty to perform, a household chore, see that he gets it done in the early morning. That lifts a weight off his mind. He can go ahead without the dogging of his conscience for the rest of the day. I have known children to lose their appetites and their health because they worried all day about a job they had to do before night. Get the job over early and forget about it.

That holds good for examinations too. If a child is to have a test at the end of a certain period of work, tell him so at the start. Tell him to keep his notes ready for reference and see that he does so. Then without any more talk, give the test on the morning of the day you set. Get it over early.

Some children waste energy in joyous excitement to outdo the same extent as others waste in worry. I know a little girl who cannot be told that she is going on a journey, until a short time before she is to start. She gets herself into such a state that she is unable to travel.

There too, the thing is to get it over quickly, but not too far in advance. Save the children all possible worry and so train them to not worry.

Some people think it is wise to hold a threat of punishment over a child for a long time. I think it very unwise. Whatever punishment is to be imposed upon a child should be given and done with. None of this "telling father next week when he comes home," none of this, "You'll find out what's what when your mother comes home." Settle the thing and get it over with.

Fear kills growth. Worse than that it becomes a habit of the mind. If a child gets into the practice of worrying, of dying many times before his end, he is going to lose the joy of living and sacrifice his usefulness. You, his mother, his teacher, can carry him through this trying period and train him to promptness and courage.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, including stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

MAESCH PLAYS ANOTHER ORGAN RECITAL FRIDAY

A symbolic transcription of "Liebestod, from Tristan und Isolde" by Wagner will be presented as a feature of the third of a series of twilight organ recitals to be given by LaVahn Maesch at 4:30 Friday afternoon at the First Congregational church.

Mr. Maesch presents for music lovers one of the most exciting and at the same time most enjoyable recitals of his entire series. Cesar Frank and Sebastian Bach also will be presented on the program. The Wagnerian presentation from Tristan und Isolde is considered the most intense of the dramas by this greatest of dramatic composers. The death song has been called the most emotional of love songs. Isolde, transfused with grief, sings her last farewell to her lover and expires on his body; as the song rises to a burst of ecstasy at the end, it suggests that in death the lovers are reunited.

The selection from Bach which Mr. Maesch will present in Friday's recital is "Fantasia and Fugue in G minor." It is considered the most stunningly dramatic of all Bach organ works. Passages with an expressive, declamatory character unheard of before Bach's day, chord progressions of unequalled daring, together with the fascinating theme of the Fugue combine to test the skill and interpretation of the organist and at the same time thrill the listeners.

The complete program follows: Choral in E major..... Frank Preble, Choralbault Fantasia and Fugue in G minor..... Bach In Moonlight..... Kinder Pantomime..... Jepson Liebestod, from Tristan und Isolde..... Wagner Carillon-Sortie..... Muiet

The Story of Sue

MARGERY HALE
© 1931 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

THREE days later Nancy was far enough recovered to inquire about the flowers which had arrived so mysteriously one evening.

"Any card with them, Sue?" she asked.

Sue shook her head. "Not a sign of one."

The flowers were growing a dark red, drooping red. Their fragrance was strong. But the heavenly odor of a sensuous perfume lingered.

"Notice anything different in their perfume—or do I just imagine it?" Nancy asked.

"Something warned Sue to shake her head. "They smell like roses," she said, evading the question.

"Do they? I guess my memories and scents and everything are mixed up. Once upon a time—a long time ago—someone brought me a vase of perfume from some place or other, and it smelled like that. I thought I imagined it."

Sue wanted to call out that she hadn't imagined it. It was true. But she remembered that Nancy's father had been a doctor. That Harry's father had been a doctor. And when he had heard of his wife's accident, he had sensed that Nancy had a romance hidden away some place back of her gray-green eyes.

Nancy closed her eyes. The long dark lashes lay on her white cheeks. She wondered if a tear really stole down and glistened or if she had imagined it. She didn't know. She was glad when someone called her to the telephone.

"This is Ruth Bradley," a low voice said. "Are you dreadfully busy?"

"Not even busy," Sue answered. "Jack is out of town on business and won't be back until late this evening. Corinne is at a dinner and Nancy is getting better fast. She has two nurses anyway."

"Then could I pick you up and would you mind driving around with me for a while? Things have been so busy."

Sue crushed a soft blue beret on her dark hair and slipped into a leather jacket. Corinne's that made her look much more like a school girl than a young married woman. She was ready when she heard the honking of Ruth's car.

"I've got myself into a predicament," Ruth began. "You know some of the story—and I needed advice."

Sue knew that that wasn't what she needed at all. She needed sympathy and friendship. The people whom she had always known would refuse to accept her as anything but a girl in nurse's uniform. She had to go outside her immediate circle to get her proportions changed.

"Mind if I tell you the story?" Ruth asked.

"I'd like to hear it," Sue answered.

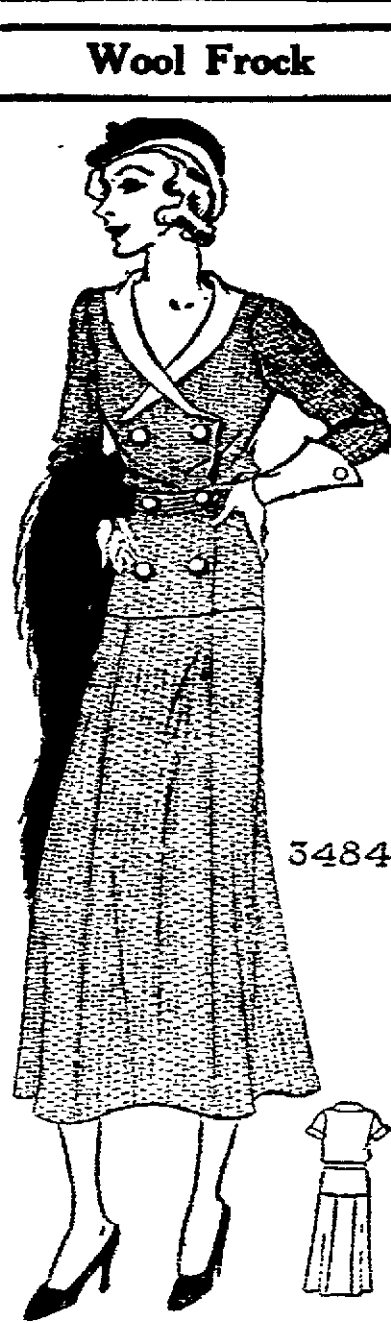

"Last night there was another dance—I'm not strong for them—I like to do so many other things better—but I was asked. It never happened before. And I went. I wore the gold things again. I had to."

She didn't say that she had been forced to return the new winter coat she had bought because Sally had to have the money for a new evening dress and slippers. Sue noticed that the cuffs of the one she was wearing were frayed. It was a good style—but shabby now.

Ruth didn't explain that she had been censured severely by her parents. "Last night—I went," she repeated. "But I did it because Sally—made—me—do—it."

"I've voice caught. Whatever had happened had been terrible," Sue knew.

The frock with the jacket-like top has an outstanding place in every smart wardrobe.

This soft tweedlike woolen in black and white favors the criss-cross sporty neckline in red woolen. Red buttons accent its smart double-breasted effect.

And it's simple as A. B. C. to fashion it and you'll find the saving enormous.

Style No. 3484 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20 years, 36 and 38 inches bust.

Size 16 requires 2½ yards 54-inch with 1 yard 39-inch contrasting.

Another interesting scheme is to make the skirt and collar and cuffs of brown diagonal woolen with vivid green diagonal woolen for the bodice. Trim with brown wooden buttons.

FACIAL OILS ARE EXCELLENT FOR DRY SKINS

When winter comes you will find a delicate, transparent skin a real responsibility. The more beautiful such skin is, the more it suffers from overheated houses and over-cold outdoors.

If you are the proud possessor of a fine, delicate skin, you must treat it with the utmost consideration and take constant care of it.

Dry skins are those that show wrinkles first. So in addition to keeping it ship-shape, you must guard against crow's feet and fretting lines.

The nightly massage and morning treatment should, of course, be gone through with daily. In addition, if you own a really fine sensitive skin, you should indulge it in one of the fine facial oils and use this oil morning after morning for the day.

Many facial oils depend on the skin's heat to warm and absorb them. It is flattering to the face if you heat it slightly before applying. Put a tablespoonful over a flame and heat it just to body temperature. Then it is all ready for absorption and saves the skin effort.

These amiable young fellows who go around proposing on the slightest provocation aren't usually the kind who wear very well. It's obvious that your boy friend was matrimonially-minded when he met you and therefore popped the question as a matter of course. Since that time his order has cooled, and he is now finding ways and means of explaining why he no longer appears as a desperately earnest suitor.

Don't feel too sorry about it. You haven't really lost a lot you know. The love which he offered you so gallantly a few months ago hasn't the real article, so you haven't lost much, on the whole. Just let him come to some serious decision of his own, and if it doesn't hurt you to see him, then go on being friends with him.

Comfort yourself with the reflection that the romance might have ended much more unhappily than it has. If you had been as impulsive and unthinking as he, and had pledged your troth to someone who really didn't know his own mind.

TOO HASTY ATOWAL BASED ON INSINCERITY—NEITHER OF THE SUITORS SATISFACTORY

Dear Virginia Vane: I met a boy some time ago who proposed to me about the fourth time I saw him. At that time I didn't realize I was in love with him and therefore refused to marry him. But since that time I have come to love him and would marry him willingly now only he has begun to say that he doesn't believe in real marriages and that he couldn't afford to marry for two or three years anyhow. Also he told me just the other day that he thought it was wise to look around and meet a lot of girls before deciding on one. Under the circumstances, I do not know how to broach the subject to him in the way I want to. Please advise me.

WAITING.

It would appear that the young man had reconsidered his early and somewhat hasty decision and that you're very lucky not to have accepted him right off the bat—and thus blundered into a marriage which would only prove unhappy.

Here, of course you have B who is an eligible young man, and an ardent suitor. He would like to marry you and you say that he'd make a good husband, but you can't possibly know that he'd be even a

SCHOOL BANDS IN FRIDAY CONCERT

Program to Mark Second Anniversary of Organization of Groups

Neenah—The high school bands, under leadership of Lester Mals, will observe their second anniversary of organization with a public concert Friday evening at the high school auditorium.

On Dec. 9, two years ago, selected students of Neenah high school received band instruments. Of the two bands organized, one was at the high school and one at Kimberly school. The second anniversary concert will be a fair demonstration of what has been accomplished in two years.

Activities of the band have been numerous. The organization as a whole has played for all home athletic contests and has assisted in many pep meetings preceding these contests since February, 1930. The bands also have played concerts at Neenah and Menasha schools, at service club meetings, at Greenville Grange picnics and convocations, and at mass concerts with Menasha and St. Mary school bands.

The most distinct honor conferred upon the young musicians and their director is the first place gold awards they received in state competition at the state band tournament last spring at Menasha.

Hoover's Tax Schedule

INCOME	1931 TAX	1932 TAX
$30. PER WEEK	$9.00	$11.20
$75. PER WEEK	$36.00	$58.00
$10,000 PER YEAR	$255.00	$360.00
$100,000 PER YEAR	$24,000.00	$42,000.00
$500,000 PER YEAR	$125,000.00	$230,000.00

Here's what the tax increase advocated in President Hoover's budget message will mean if it is adopted by Congress. In the income tax chart shown above, figures given are for single men with no special exemptions. The tax on $1,500 to $1,000 will hit the small salaried man, while the large increase in the surtax will hit the very rich. The tax for the very rich is figured on net income after all deductions. Theater tax would be 10 per cent on all admissions of 50 cents or more, whereas the present tax begins with admissions of $3 and is expected to boost this revenue from $4,000,000 to $80,000,000. Automobile tax will be on a percentage basis, with $10 probably the lowest tax on any car.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine. For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just clogs in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a trick, bad taste and your breath is foul. You often break out in pimples. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned. It takes these good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these hard pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, and when it comes to making the bile flow freely, but don't ask for Liver Pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Respect a substitute. See at all stores. © 1931 C.M. Co.

Twenty-One Movie Stars Have Attended College

BY JESSIE HENDERSON Copyright 1931, By Cons. Press

Hollywood—(CPA)—Maybe Dr. John Frederick Dashiell was right and maybe he wasn't when he recently said that the average motion picture player is a moron. Anyway, the psychologist at the University of North Carolina burned up the motion picture industry to such an extent that a still hunt has been going on hereabouts for college degrees in the film colony.

Paramount studios found 21 players right on its own contract list who have been to college. Some didn't graduate, but all 21 got in and that ought to prove something. Six are women. Frances Dee was a junior at Chicago University when she got a celluloid job as a lark during summer vacation. Dorothy Tree was a coed at Cornell. Frances Moffett went tooucher college in Baltimore and George Washington university in Washington, D. C. Miriam Hopkins went to Syracuse university, Julia W. Haydon to art course at Skidmore college in Saratoga and Marjorie Connelley went to Packer College in Manhattan in Brooklyn.

Frederic March went up to the University of Wisconsin, where he was "W" for athletic and a member of the college dramatics and was president of the senior class.

George Cooper studied at Grinnell college in Iowa. Regis Toomey graduated from Pittsburgh. Charles B. Rogers was a junior in journalism at the University of Kansas when he won a chance to enter the Paramount Dramatic school. Charles Starrett and Allen Vincent went to Dartmouth. Starrett not only played football but also graduated. Vincent's betrimed a trip to Europe for his senior year. Phillips Holmes was a sophomore at Princeton when a film company photographed a picture there and gave him a part in it. Irving Pichel graduated from Harvard. Richard Arlen had completed his freshman year at St. Thomas when he entered the Canadian air forces during the war. George Bancroft was at Annapolis for a year before he decided to be an actor. He was later studied for the ministry at Crozier seminary. Stuart Erwin was a sophomore at the University of California when he went on the stage. Russ Clark has a degree from the University of Illinois. The Duke of the Emerald actor, is a graduate of DePaul college, Chicago. He was a student at the University of Budapest. So

Badger Council Again Ignores Question Of Football Coach

WON'T ACT UNTIL 1932 BUDGET IS DRAWN, ADOPTED

Coaching and Administrative Staffs Will Be Reduced to Minimum

MADISON—(AP)—The University of Wisconsin's athletic board again ignored the question of Coach Glen Tustle's status at a secret meeting last night. In a prepared statement issued after the meeting, the council said it considered only the question of salaries and budgets.

It cut $40,000 off the athletic program budget, reducing the figure to be available next year to $100,000. The board also voted to pay $30,000 on its field house obligation and set aside $20,000 for the contingent fund.

After deciding to reduce the coaching and administrative staffs to the minimum consistent with efficiency, the board voted to establish the salary schedule "in terms of the salary scale of the university as a whole, with due regard to unavoidable Big Ten relationships."

The board concluded its statement by saying that no changes in the personnel would be announced until after the program of readjustment had been completed.

ST. JOSEPH ELEVEN CLAIMS GRID TITLE

First Warders Fail to Show; Bonecrushers Say They're Champs

St. Joseph school Bonecrushers today claim the championship in their series of football games with the First Ward Blue Birds, the claim being laid as result of a forfeit last night when the First warders failed to put in their appearance at Jones park.

There was snow on the ground and it may have been chilly, and all that, but the St. Joe team was ready with eight young men, strong and powerful, to pit against any eleven the First warders might bring around. But the First ward didn't show up so the Bonecrushers are the champs.

The series of game started several weeks when the First ward won a game 6 and 0. It rained the night of the second game and St. Joe lost because it didn't put in its appearance. The night of the third game First ward failed to show up and then last week the St. Joe eleven won by a score of 10 and 6. So last night's game was to have decided the title.

St. Joe gridders who were ready to give battle were Frank Kamps, captain of the team, Leo Weber, "Red" Massonet, Robert Forster, Robert Steenis, Robert DeLeest, Orville Kurey and Kenneth Bobber.

ROUND ROBIN GRID GAMES FINALLY END

Only 8,000 Fans See Columbia, Princeton, Penn and Cornell Play

New York—(AP)—The open season on football round robins, born of charity, came to an end with yesterday's doubleheader at the Yankee Stadium, in which Columbia and Cornell took a couple of muddy falls from Princeton and Pennsylvania, respectively.

Whether the idea will be revived next year or will turn out to have been one of those quickly passing fads, like Eugene hats, remains to be seen. The consensus among eastern experts, who were privileged to witness two free-for-alls, seems to be that the robins have gone the way of the dodo bird.

While fans turned out in goodly numbers for the triple header at New Haven, contributing some $50,000 to charity, and an estimated 8,000 defied the worst kind of weather to witness yesterday's program here, it is doubtful the public would choose such entertainment for a steady diet.

The chief complaint has been that such contests, necessarily abbreviated, are not decisive. In five games played at New Haven and here there were only three touchdowns.

The round robin battles here, as well as those played at New Haven, proved that the short contests are conducive of action. Faced with the necessity of getting in their best work right from the start, the quarterbacks threw caution aside and gave their opponents everything they had.

Step Into New Grid Jobs

BERNIE BIERMAN

One of her favorite sons will become head football coach at the University of Minnesota in the new year. He is Bernie Bierman, former Gopher captain and prominent of late as the director of Tulane University's undefeated Green Wave eleven. Bierman succeeds H. O. Fritz Crisler as head coach, and in turn is succeeded at Tulane by Tex Cox, another Minnesota star of the past. Cox played tackle for the Gophers and later served as line coach under Bierman at Tulane. Lester Lautenschlager, former Tulane backfield star will assist Cox.

Burleigh Grimes Joins Deposed Series Idols

NEW YORK—(AP)—To Burleigh Grimes, grizzled, embattled hero of the 1931 world series, goes the dubious honor of joining Rogers Hornsby and Casey Stengel in the bracket of idols dismissed after exceptional service.

Just as Hornsby piloted the St. Louis Cardinals to the first National League pennant and the first world series victory the Red Birds ever attained, so did the grizzled Burleigh lift the Cards into their second world title with a pair of marvelous pitching performances. But regardless of the achievement, it seems the hero's fate in St. Louis is to follow the trail of the departed. Just as Hornsby and Stengel were dismissed after exceptional service, so will Grimes be.

Casey was a home run hitter and he crowned his career by belting the ball into the stands to give the Giants a 5 to 4 victory in the opening game of the world series with the Yankees. And he went even further, whaling another from the lot in the third game for a personal triumph, 1 to 0, the second and last in the series. Grimes was in the series. A month later he was on his down the river, traded to the Boston Braves.

The records show several more world series heroes who scarcely survived to tell their tales in their own dugouts, and another Cardinal manager, Bill McKechnie, now with the Boston Braves, found himself winning the National League flag in 1928 and losing the world series to the Yankees four straight.

Kiki Cuyler, now a team mate who will welcome Grimes to the Chicago Cubs, got the hit that beat Walter Johnson and the Washington Senators over the Pirates won the 1925 series. Two years later he sat on the bench, a political outcast, as the Yankees hammered the Pirates into defeat in four games.

Howard Ehmke had about one pitching masterpiece left in his one right arm when he faced the Cubs in 1929. Connie Mack's pitching choice to open the world series. He was pounded out of a later game, did little in 1930 and retired.

420,000 GRID FANS SAW IRISH GRIDDERS PLAY

South Bend, Ind.—(AP)—Notre Dame's football team played before approximately 420,000 spectators in eight games last season. A drop of more than 100,000 from 1929 figures when nine games were played.

The total attendance for home games showed an increase, however, in spite of the fact that only one less game was played at South Bend. In four games at home, the Irish drew 144,990 spectators, against 138,000 for five games. A year ago, 390,000 watched Notre Dame on foreign fields, against 275,000 away from home last season.

The Southern California game at Los Angeles in 1930, drew $9,000 for the high mark of that season, while the Northwestern contest at Soldier field, Chicago, played during a heavy rain, drew 65,000 to top the campaign.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

Detroit—Jimmy Alvarado, Los Angeles, outpointed Jimmy Watts, Atlanta, Ga. (60); Babe Cane, Los Angeles, outpointed Eddie Terry, St. Louis (6).

Oakland, Calif.—Fidel La Barba, Los Angeles, stopped "Wildcat" Carter, Seattle (1).

Seattle—Fred Lohmeyer, Spokane, outpointed Wesley (K.O.) Ketchell, Salt Lake City (6).

Short Sports

Vince Barton, Chicago Cub outfielder recalled last season from Los Angeles, is figured to become a regular in the 1932 season.

New York City sportsmen who go in for deep sea fishing have been asked to give a portion of their catch to the Salvation Army for distribution among needy families.

Oliver Samsen, fullback, for the second consecutive year has been voted the most valuable member of the Hawkeye grid team by his mates. He is a senior.

Pierce "Kid" Brewer, Duke football and 1931 leader, has been captain of nine different athletic teams since his grade school days.

BASEBALL HEADS TO HEAR LANDIS ON OPTION RULE

High Commissioner Is Displeased; Many Trades Still in Fire

BY WILLIAM WEEKES Associated Press Sports Writer CHICAGO—(AP)—The player market was still wide open today as the majors met jointly to discuss common problems.

The Chicago Cubs' angle of the Hack Wilson question was settled by one of baseball's biggest deals which sent the former home run champion to the St. Louis Cardinals in exchange for Burleigh Grimes, pitching hero of the last world series. However, there was more than a slight possibility that Wilson would be used as trading timber by the Cardinals. Bud Tschetter, the young left handed pitcher who also went to the Cards in the transaction, was said to be slated for a job with one of the St. Louis Minor league farms.

Judge To Have Say

Kenesaw Mountain Landis, commissioner of baseball, was reported to have something pointed to say as he presided over the joint meeting. His theme was expected to concern actions of several clubs in connection with the option rule.

The sacrifice fly rule and the reduction of the player limit were certain to be thoroughly discussed. It was reliably reported that no change in the sacrifice rule would be made, and a reduction of the player limit from 25 to 21 men, as has been suggested, was considered hardly likely.

Other trades were still on the line today. Cincinnati offered Joe Stripp and pitcher Larry Benton to Brooklyn for Dazzy Vance, Ernie Lombardi, Ike Boone and Johnny Frederick, while Detroit was after Joe Judge and hoped to make some kind of a deal for him today.

Several clubs, chief among them Cleveland, were after Ralph Kress of the St. Louis Browns, but none appeared to have enough trading material to satisfy the Browns management. The New York Yankees were on a hunt for another good pitcher and were willing to include infielder Tony Lazzeri in a transaction. Cleveland apparently had given up hope of using first baseman Eddie Morgan as a trading lure.

Braves Get Third Sacker

The Boston Braves accomplished some business with minor league clubs, purchasing third baseman Fritz Knochle from Seattle of the Pacific coast league, and selling first baseman Earl (Whitey) Sheely, and catcher Bill Cronin to Los Angeles of the same organization, for $15,000.

Harold H. Field, went to Seattle in the deal for Knochle. Field was in the deal for Knochle. Field was in the deal for Knochle. Field was in the deal for Knochle.

Both leagues yesterday voted to continue with the same type of baseball as last season. The National league voted down a proposal to re-establish the practice of naming a "most valuable player" each year, and acted negatively on the question of numbering players. The elder circuit also voted to reduce the batting practice period of the visiting team from 30 to 20 minutes.

NAME MORE PLAYERS FOR EAST-WEST GAME

Chicago—(AP)—With acceptances from four more players, Coach Dick Anderson today had nine on his list for the east-west Shrine charity football game at San Francisco New Year's day.

The latest additions are Bob Haurich, tackle from Ohio State; Frank Hoffman, all-American guard for Notre Dame; Al Teeter, Minnesota end.

Marchmont Schwartz, Notre Dame's all-American halfback, has not yet decided whether to join the squad or visit his home at Bay St. Louis, Miss., during the holiday recess. Ed Hewitt, end and fullback from Michigan; Del Marvill, tackle, and Reb Russell, fullback, Northwestern, and Jim Purvis, halfback, and center Charles Miller, Purdue, are the other players who have accepted invitations to join with Andy Kerr's group from the eastern sector, Dec. 15 at Evanston.

Sports Question Box

Q. Is there anything in the rules which permits a referee to permit a rest of several minutes when a boxer has been fouled?

A. Not in the Marquis of Queensberry rules. Some state commissions permit a referee to use his own judgment in such cases but it is unfair to the boxer fouled as his opponent, guilty of fouling and meriting disqualification, also gets a rest period.

Q. Has there ever been any artificial device to help curve a ball?

A. Yes, there was something that could be worn on the hand to assist in throwing a curve but can't say how efficacious it became.

Q. Would you advise a boxer to use heavy clothes in training?

A. For the amateur boxer, no. He should build up naturally. A professional boxer is more hardened and if he is overweight he is not affected by working with heavy clothes.

Q. Are there any members of the Notre Dame team from Irish?

A. Only two of the boys are what was considered the "first team" among Notre Dame gridders had any Irish blood. Yarr, center and Schwartz, halfback.

Early in the 1931-1932 season Kansas City had 4,140 bowlers rolling with 828 teams in 77 leagues.

Machine bowlers in the Interlake league at Elk alleys moved into first place in standings last night when they copied two games from the Electricians while the Yards were dropping three. Last week the three teams were tied for honors.

After dropping the first game primarily because of the 134 to 115 handicap, the Machine came back behind McKeefer's 181 and D. Prink's 178 and scored a victory. The second game was taken with McKeefer's 189 and Prink's 188. For the Electricians Brandy rolled 143, 139, 203 and 487.

Yard keepers lost three because of the sharp shooting of Henke and Ashauer of the Construction team and the that three of the Yardsmen reported with scores under 370.

Failure to click the maples cost the Digesters two games with the Office team. The Office won the first with V. Schmidt's 137, and copied the second with his 191. The third game went to the Digesters because Vanhandel hit a 151 and despite a 132 by Frogner of the Office, Koskise's 125 sunk the Office quintet, the margin of defeat being three pins.

Leaders have been treated rather roughly in the Elk Ladies league recently with the result that the Teasers have moved into second place and now trail the D. G. S. in first by a mere two games.

The Teasers improved their position by beating the D. G. S. in two. The Teasers showed a 626 total in the first game but the D. G. S. staged a terrible exhibition for a scratch team and reported a 95 and 81 and a 549 total. The D. G. S. then rallied in the second contest with a 163 by E. Ashman and a 160 by B. Wagner and copied.

In the third game the Teasers copied with a 532 by Engstrom and because of a 95 by R. Ashman which didn't help the D. G. S. total.

Fressers staged a bit of upset when they socked the second place Tip Tops for three games. H. Strassburger was the star in the victories with games of 148, 153, 162-463. D. Catlin and C. Schroeder were the goats for the Tops with unusually low scores.

Midgets bumped the Elkettes for two games. E. Koitsch turning in a nice 338 series to lead the way. Shad led 132 in the first game and then 155, 190, E. Beck and A. Glasnap turned in 515 and 459 for the Elkettes, their team losing one game by four pins and winning the third by 13. E. Beck's games were 150, 167, 201.

John Haug quintet had an off evening last night with D. Schultz getting a mere 105, 95, 65-383 but the Cubs were much worse and the Haug quint won two games, the first 69 and second, A. Weisberger's 435 was high series for both teams.

Hit 'n Miss showed a bunch of low scores, 90, 97, 81, 91, 100, 118 for instance and dropped two games to the Cracker Jacks. L. Dunn's 161, 211, 166-385 was the only thing that kept the Hit 'n Miss in the running, her 211 accounting for the team's only win. L. Boite topped the Jacks with 162, 157, 141-460.

Wants Skating Rink

There is skating in practically every city in the valley except Appleton. They have been playing hockey in Wausau for the last two weeks. The reason we have none is that the city has one man taking care of all the rinks in the city and his knowledge of how to prepare a good rink is limited. In this day and age of depression and unemployment why couldn't the city have a man in charge of each rink and in no time the boys and girls would be enjoying them. It is at this time of the year that skating on the river is dangerous and if the rinks are not in shape the kids will be on treacherous ice. I don't know who to see about this but thought your column could get some quick action.

A GOOD SKATE.

Jones Park.

Amateurs Turn Pros

Maybe it's the depression, maybe it's because there are no good young boxers coming up, but several of the top notch amateurs are turning pro. Julius Cohen and Max Maker did recently; Frankie Knauer is reported to have heard the call of dollars and now Augie Stubler is considering the idea.

Home Towners

Northwestern University's football team, co-holder of the Big Ten title and a recognized leader in the national rankings, is distinctly a hometown team.

Of 35 players who comprised Coach Dick Hanley's varsity squad, 23 will spend Christmas vacation at home in Chicago and the adjacent suburbs and towns. The other seven will have to go outside the state to reach their homes.

Captain Marvill comes from Delaware. Quarterback Fott from Omaha and Fullback Russell from Oklahoma. Pug Rentner hails from Joliet, the Rileys from Wilmette and Ollie Olson from Wheaton. Fifteen squadsmen are former Chicago high school players.

About Northwestern

A Neenah sport fan, apparently a youngster, wants to know if Northwestern played Southern California this year. And the answer is "No." The Wildcats played the University of California, southern branch.

Wildcats scores for the last season are as follows:

Northwestern 19, Nebraska 0.
Northwestern 0, Notre Dame 0.
Northwestern 19, U. C. C. 0.
Northwestern 16, Ohio 0.
Northwestern 32, Illinois 0.
Northwestern 32, Minnesota 14.
Northwestern 7, Indiana 6.
Northwestern 19, Iowa 0.
Northwestern 0, Purdue 7.

HORTON SMITH IS LEADER IN COAST GOLF TOURNAMENT

Turns in 68 for First Qualifying Round; Frank Walsh Has 70

SAN FRANCISCO—(AP)—Paced by Horton Smith, tall young Missourian, some 133 surviving amateurs and professionals unlimbered their clubs today for the second round of the 35-hole qualifying tests for the $7,500 national open match play golf championship.

Smith turned in a brilliant 68, four under par for the Lake Merced course, to lead nearly 200 starters in the first half of the qualifying round. Players with scores of 36 or over were automatically retired, but all outstanding performers came through.

On his game from tee to green, Smith was favored to win medal honors in the race for the 32 qualifying places. One stroke behind the leader as they teed off today was Gene Sarazen of Great Neck, L. I., one time national open champion.

Frank Walsh of Chicago started his second round in third place with a 70, while Al Espinosa of Akron, O., took up from the 71-stroke station.

The 73-stroke class had eleven representatives, including Walter Hag on of Detroit, former national open title holder, Wiffy Cox, of Brooklyn; Olin Dutra of Santa Monica and Abe Espinosa, and Joe Kirkwood of Chicago.

George von Elm of Los Angeles, Harry Cooper, New York, and two Japanese professionals, K. Yasuda, Tokyo, and T. Miyamoto, Osaka, set out with scores of 74 behind them.

VIKINGS SHOW TONIGHT WITH ST. NORBERT "5"

Leave After Game for Marquette and Houghton Battles

COACH Arthur C. Denney of Lawrence college basketball team will trot his proteges out before the home folks tonight at Alexander gymnasium with St. Norbert college five of De Pere the opponents. The game will mark first public appearance of the Viking quintet.

An unusual number of Appleton boys are with the Viking squad this season. There is Bennie Rafotz, center. Bill Foote, guard, Mike Gochnauer, guard, and Willis Haase who hails from Neenah, but that is almost Appleton.

Advance information on the Lawrence team is that the boys look fairly good. They are comparatively tall, Denney having on hand about five or six youngsters who stand six foot or better. However, the boys lack experience and the confidence that goes with older squads.

After the St. Norbert game the Vikes will pack their bags and leave for Marquette, Mich., where they will perform Friday night and Saturday will move to Houghton, Mich., for a game with Michigan School of Mines team.

Little is known about any of the three teams the Vikes meet this week. St. Norbert is reported to have a likely squad and Marquette teachers usually are strong on the court. The school of mines will offer but fair opposition.

Next Wednesday the Vikings will invade in their first big time game, invading Milwaukee for the annual rumput with Marquette university team.

The game tonight begins at 8 o'clock.

KIMBERLY TAX RATE FIXED AT $20 PER $1,000

Cash Balance and County Reduction Help Make Reduction Possible

(Special to Post-Crescent)

Kimberly—Kimberly's tax rate for 1932 was reduced to $20 per thousand Monday evening by the village board. The previous rate was $27.50. Reductions in county taxes, and economy measures in the village made the reduction possible. The village has a cash balance of $12,500, while in the three previous years it had to function to some degree on borrowed money.

The board voted to pay $6,500 to Martin Boldt and Son, contractors, on the new village hall. It also allowed bills amounting to $2,500. A surety bond covering the county's share of taxes was awarded to the Vanden Boogard Insurance agency, as was a $1,000 hold-up policy for the village treasurer during the tax collection period. The Jess H. Wydevyen Insurance agency is to renew the liability, property damage, fire and auto insurance on the Sagamore building.

The board instructed the health committee to meet with the health officer, Dr. C. G. Maes, to discuss the advisability of drawing up a milk ordinance for the village.

The clerk was instructed to order nine modern fire alarm boxes to replace those now in service but in poor condition.

The Martin Wydevyen Insurance agency was asked to cover the new village hall with a fire and tornado policy and to increase the amount as the building progresses, by adding $10,000 each month until Feb. 15, when the new hall should be complete.

CASE IS HELD OPEN AGAINST ED HERTER

New London—The charge of larceny against Edward Herter of this city, arrested on complaint of Fred Diehl, Jr. of the town of Miquon, has been held open until Dec. 23 for further investigation. A preliminary hearing was held here Wednesday afternoon. Diehl appeared to testify that articles, including a watch, fishing tackle and guns, had been stolen from his farm home while the family was in Appleton on Oct. 12. He stated that he reported the theft to Under Sheriff James O. Hanson. Hanson said that his investigation had led him to the Sager jewelry store in this city where he found the watch, later identified by Mr. Diehl as his own. Sager said that the watch had been left there by Herter.

In Herter's testimony he asserted that he had bought the watch from Guy Carver, also of New London. He said that the guns found by Under Sheriff Hanson in his home were his own. Hanson had pointed out that he had been accused of permission by Herter to search his home, but that later, provided with a search warrant, he had searched the house and found the guns. Carver testified that he had not sold the watch and denied that he had ever seen it.

Last Friday the building and a drug store took money from each place. Charles Luther, Calumet-co register of deeds was the speaker at the meeting of the Chilton Kiwanis club Tuesday evening. Mr. Luther stated that the name of the office might well be changed, as during the past year not more than 30 per cent of the papers recorded were deeds. A more appropriate name would be county record office, so varied are the instruments now recorded there, he stated. Especially has the number of chattel mortgages recorded increased in the past two years. Hereofore these were recorded at the office of the village, city and town clerks, he said. "Now and then," said the speaker, "people find that their property is recorded as being mortgaged when the owner thought it was free from any encumbrance. In these instances the owners of the property when they discharged the mortgage brought the satisfaction home with them but did not have it recorded."

Mr. Luther believes it to be a good policy for all property owners to keep all old papers, as they not infrequently are the only means of straightening out incorrect records.

Mr. Luther read a copy of a deed given in 1836 to Daniel Webster, then senator from Massachusetts, at the place of property abutting Lake Winnebago between High Cliff and Waverly Beach, for which Mr. Webster paid $1300.

SAYS OLD-FASHIONED HORSE-SENSE IS BIG NEED IN AMERICA

Chicago—(P)—The suggestion for business recovery offered by Gov. Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland is a "holding fast to our ancient faith in the old-fashioned horse-sense of old-fashioned Americanism."

"This," he confessed, "may not sound like a very profound political philosophy, but it is one that makes for safety and stability, and that is what the nation wants."

Thus the eastern state executive, who has been mentioned as a possible candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, outlined his theories before the annual dinner of the Illinois Manufacturers' association Wednesday night.

"I do not for a moment contend that we should be a stand-pat people," he asserted. But let us be wise in what we reject, and wise in what we adopt.

"This extraordinary business depression which has come upon us has given rise to the extraordinary idea that what is needed is some form of super-planning, by which at one stroke our economic future can be controlled."

The governor, however, said he was wary of such super-plans.

Appleton State Bank's Building Modern In Every Respect

NO SACRIFICE OF BEAUTY TO GAIN UTILITY

Delightful Combination of Marble and Steel in Banking House

Improvements just completed by the Appleton State bank not only provide more convenient and adequate working facilities, but they have combined efficiency with a charming beauty.

For a long time the need for more space has been apparent to the bank's directors, according to B. J. Zuehlke, president. The board, last January, voted to start at once on the improvements, because it felt that the time was propitious. Mr. Zuehlke said. It was felt that advantageous prices could be secured at this time and the bank would be doing the community a service by providing work for men living here. The work was started at once, but was not apparent to the public for several months while the most vault, one of the strongest and modern in Wisconsin, was installed.

When it became necessary to start work on the quarters occupied by the bank, temporary headquarters were established in the building next door, where business was carried on while the old building was remodeled.

The lobby entrance to the bank has a marble floor and marble wainscoting. The public lobby inside the bank also has a marble floor and the fixtures which are of marble and walnut. The walls above the wainscoting are of imitation yellow Travertine. The ceilings and decorative moldings are of white plaster. There are seven service windows in the new working counter. The first two windows are served from one "cage" while each of the other windows is served from its own cage. These cages are separate compartments which are entered through a door from the rear. Tellers and clerks keep the doors locked while they are on duty.

A railing separating the lobby from the desks of the bank executives. The floors behind the counters and this railing are of inlaid linoleum. Two conference rooms lead off to the north from the executive quarters while the director's room, which also can be used for a conference room, leads off to the south from this same space.

Vaults for Books
There is space in the rear of the interest and note cage for the head bookkeeper. Thus that department is available immediately to the clerks and the executives. Just off of the bookkeeper's space, to the west, is a new vault for books. This vault makes it possible for the huge new safety vault to be closed immediately and locked when the bank's business day ends each afternoon at 5:30. Previously it was necessary to keep the main vault open to await storage of the books at the end of the day's work.

On the south side of this smaller book vault there is an entrance to the bookkeeping department, separated from the main bank quarters by a bullet proof door. There will also be a "peep-hole" in the wall through which employees in the bookkeeping department can see what is going on in the banking section. An alarm button is provided so that in case of attempted robbery an employee can summon help from the police department with no danger to himself.

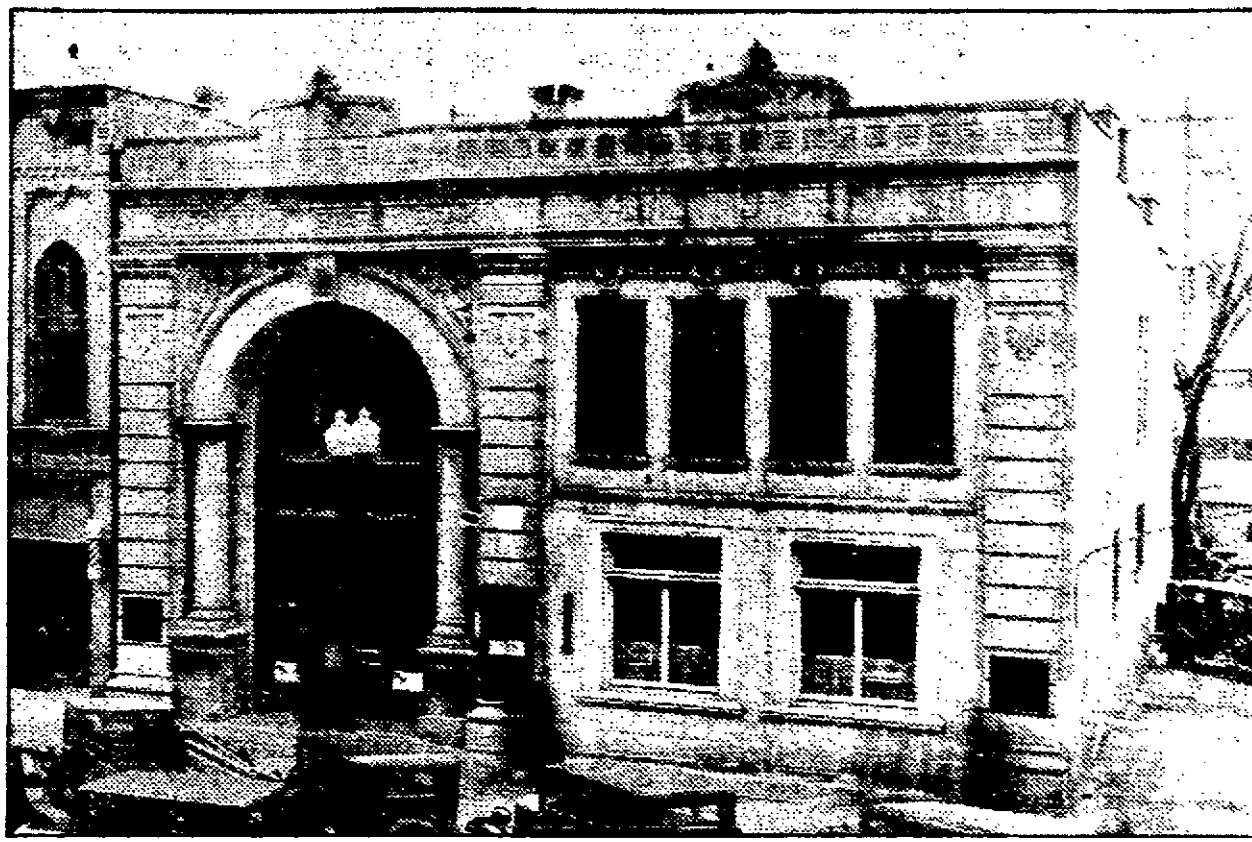

The new vault was built in the south end of the building. Between this vault and the lobby there is a bullet proof glass partition. The custodian of the safety deposit box section can also act as guard behind a protected section of glass.

WOMAN SLAIN IN NEW JERSEY HOME

Bullet Fired from Darkness Strikes Bride of Six Months in Back

West Orange, N. J.—(AP)—Mrs. Grace Guillian, a bride of six months, was shot dead in her bath last night.

The bullet, fired from a .22 calibre rifle, came out of the darkness, through a window pane and struck her in the back as she was preparing to draw water into the tub.

Her husband of six months, Joseph, who was downstairs reading, heard her scream. She was unconscious when he reached her side and was dead before she could be taken to a hospital.

The shot that killed her was not the first fired last night in the fashionable neighborhood in which the Guillian home stands. As the husband, seeking help, ran from the house, he came upon a group of policemen who were investigating the circumstances of a shot fired through a window at the nearby home of J. C. Dorn. The bullet shattered the glass, but did no other damage.

Shooting has occurred in West Orange at frequent intervals for several years. No trace of the rifleman ever has been found. The slaying of Mrs. Guillian, who was 28 years old, was the first fatality, although other persons have suffered flesh wounds from the sniper's shots.

Mr. Guillian's father, John McGuff, is a federal labor conciliator. The two shots were fired from an elevator at the rear of the Dorn and Guillian homes. No one has been found who heard the shooting.

The League of Nations in 1927 estimated the population of Asia at 859,000,000.

Want Public To Use Bank Auditorium

The small auditorium in the basement of the Appleton State bank building will probably be ready for use within the next week or two, according to bank officials.

This auditorium will be at the service of any public organization. The room, reached by taking the stairway on the right side of the bank lobby, is large enough to accommodate about 100 people.

The public room can be used for card parties, dancing parties, meetings, private business sessions, boy scout sessions or ceremonies, church social events or any other kind of function.

The room is to be provided with chairs, tables and other fixtures necessary for public gatherings. A small stage will be provided at the south end of the room.

The walls are being decorated in colored texture plaster and the floor is of reinforced concrete.

STUDENT UPHOLDS LIVING THEATRE

Declaring that the living theatre is the culmination of all the arts, Gilbert Hill, a student at Lawrence college, who has taken part in many stage productions throughout the Fox river valley, said "that all thinking people today have become alarmed at the passing of the extinction of the legitimate stage." In an address to Lawrence students at the chapel Wednesday morning.

In comparing the living stage with the talking movies, he declared that the stage, through the personality of the actors, which is lost on the screen produces an aesthetic and an emotional satisfaction which cannot be found in a movie.

PRESIDENT OF BANK HAS LONG SERVICE RECORD

The president of the Appleton State bank, B. J. Zuehlke, is one of Outagamie's best known citizens. He was born on a farm in the town of Hortonville and has lived in this county all his life. He attended the schools at Hortonville and in Appleton.

While Mr. Zuehlke was in school, his father, Julius Zuehlke, served Outagamie as register of deeds and Mr. Zuehlke assisted him. After leaving school Mr. Zuehlke became a telegraph operator for the Chicago and Northwestern railroad and later with the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad. All together he served eight years in Appleton as an operator.

In 1934, Mr. Zuehlke was appointed deputy register of deeds by D. A. Kenyon, who was then serving as register. In 1936 Mr. Zuehlke became a candidate for the office and was elected, serving the county for 16 years as register of deeds until 1912 when he was not a candidate for reelection.

In 1911 Mr. Zuehlke assisted with the organization of the Appleton State bank and became its cashier. He served in that capacity until 1925 when he was made president a position which he has held ever since and which he now holds.

In addition to his duties with the Appleton State bank, Mr. Zuehlke also is president of the Bank of Black Creek, and a director of the First National bank of Dale.

Cincinnati—Mistletoe isn't what it used to be in the Christmas season. Bashful young ladies who stood blushing under the mystic mistletoe, thereby making themselves eligible for a kiss, must have decided it was an old fashioned and unnecessary subterfuge. Farmers are trucking it to market in large quantities, but no one is buying.

State Bank Has Made Huge Strides In Last 20 Years

The Appleton State bank, which has completed remodeling its building, was organized in 1911 with a capital of $50,000. G. A. Zuehlke was the first president. H. A. Schmitz was vice president, and B. J. Zuehlke was cashier. These men, together with A. H. Krummeyer and Gustave Keller, Sr., comprised the first board of directors.

When the bank was organized there were only three employees. They were B. J. Zuehlke, M. A. Schuh and J. Kuehn, who still are with the organization. Originally there were about 50 stockholders. Business grew rapidly, until in 1916 stockholders were given a 75 per cent cash payment, plus the regular dividend. At that time the capital stock was increased to $100,000 and the surplus was $25,000. The number of stockholders was increased to 150, at which figure it still stands. The bank has paid its regular dividend every year since 1912.

In 1916 the bank building was remodeled and Irving Zuehlke occupied the front part of the west half of the building, the bank using the rear. Mr. Zuehlke moved from the building in 1924 and the bank took over the entire structure at that time. The Appleton State bank now gives employment to 12 persons. The personnel includes: B. J. Zuehlke, president; M. A. Schuh, cashier; Tim Sauer, Jr., assistant cashier; E. F. Semrow, assistant cashier; L. Schreder, assistant cashier and trust officer; Robert Zuehlke, Elmer Beldt, J. Kuehn, Miss Gertrude Adams, Miss Margaret Henkle, Miss Margaret Burke and Miss Martha Jentz.

In addition to Mr. Zuehlke and Mr. Schuh, the present directors include A. H. Krummeyer, A. F. Zuehlke, Gustave Keller, Sr. and Herman Wislocki.

Deposits on June 30, 1931, totaled $275,155.78. Reserve and undivided profits totaled $37,181.74. The surplus still is $175,000 and the capital stock is $100,000.

Resources include the following: Loans, $1,550,394.14; United States securities, $51,485.76; other bonds and securities, $495,068.09; the bank's house, $70,000; other real estate, $1,700; furniture and fixtures, $8,000; cash on hand and due from banks, $179,235.55; bonds and coupons in transit; and interest advanced, $29,394.94; remodeling account, $21,733.70.

FARMERS' UNION ASKS THAT ZIMMERMAN QUIT

Madison—(AP)—The county convention of the Farmers' Educational and Cooperative Union Wednesday voted unanimously approving a resolution asking for the resignation of Circuit Judge A. G. Zimmerman.

The resolution, prepared by Kenneth Jener, Colfax, president, and approved by the committee on resolutions, urged the judge's action in firing J. D. Beck, commissioner of agriculture and markets, for violation of an injunction restraining the publication of lists of chomargarine dealers.

The resolution commended Beck and condemned the judge for "nullifying" the most important points of the chomargarine law and for restraint of free speech and freedom of the press.

WRISTON BACK FROM TRIP THROUGH EAST

Dr. Henry M. Wriston, president of Lawrence college, returned Wednesday evening from a week's trip through the eastern part of the country. Dr. Wriston will leave Dec. 19 on another eastern trip of about two weeks duration. He will deliver several addresses and will visit the departments of education of the states through which he passes.

Mass Of Steel And Concrete Protects 1,500 Safety Boxes

NO CHANCE FOR BANDITS TO GET AT BANK'S CASH

Huge Vault Defies Best Efforts of Modern Safe-breakers

Complete in every detail, the new vault in Appleton State bank is one of the largest north of Chicago. In addition to being 100 per cent bandit-proof, the mammoth structure, entirely encased in stainless steel, lends beauty to the interior of the building.

Nothing has been left undone from the standpoint of safety. Although the huge 30-ton vault door, with its complicated, mechanical apparatus as sensitive as a woman's wrist watch would appear to be sufficient protection, a screen of bullet-proof glass and steel has been constructed to separate the vault from the main lobby of the bank.

Behind this bullet-proof partition, equipped with special apparatus, including a brass swivel for guns. Otto Zuehlke, ex-sheriff of Outagamie county will be stationed as guard. The partition is constructed of glass an inch thick, mounted in steel to harmonize with the vault. In the center is a heavy door, also constructed of stainless steel.

1,500 Safety Boxes
In the interior of the vault are 1,500 safety deposit boxes for bank patrons, a separate vault for the bank's money, and another vault for securities. There is room for 1,500 more safety deposit boxes.

Thousands of pounds of concrete and steel were used in the preliminary construction of the vault, rendering it drill proof. Approximately 7,200 pounds of steel I beams are buried in concrete.

A special runway built on the south side of the vault in separating the vault from the rear vault of the bank is equipped with a special motor and lighting system to enable bank officials to determine at all times whether the outer wall has been tampered with.

Six special booths for safety deposit box patrons have been constructed on the south side of the vault. The doors lock automatically, and in the event of a hold up, patrons would not be molested, and unless the bandits made it a point to pry open the doors, these booths are equipped with desks with transparent glass tops.

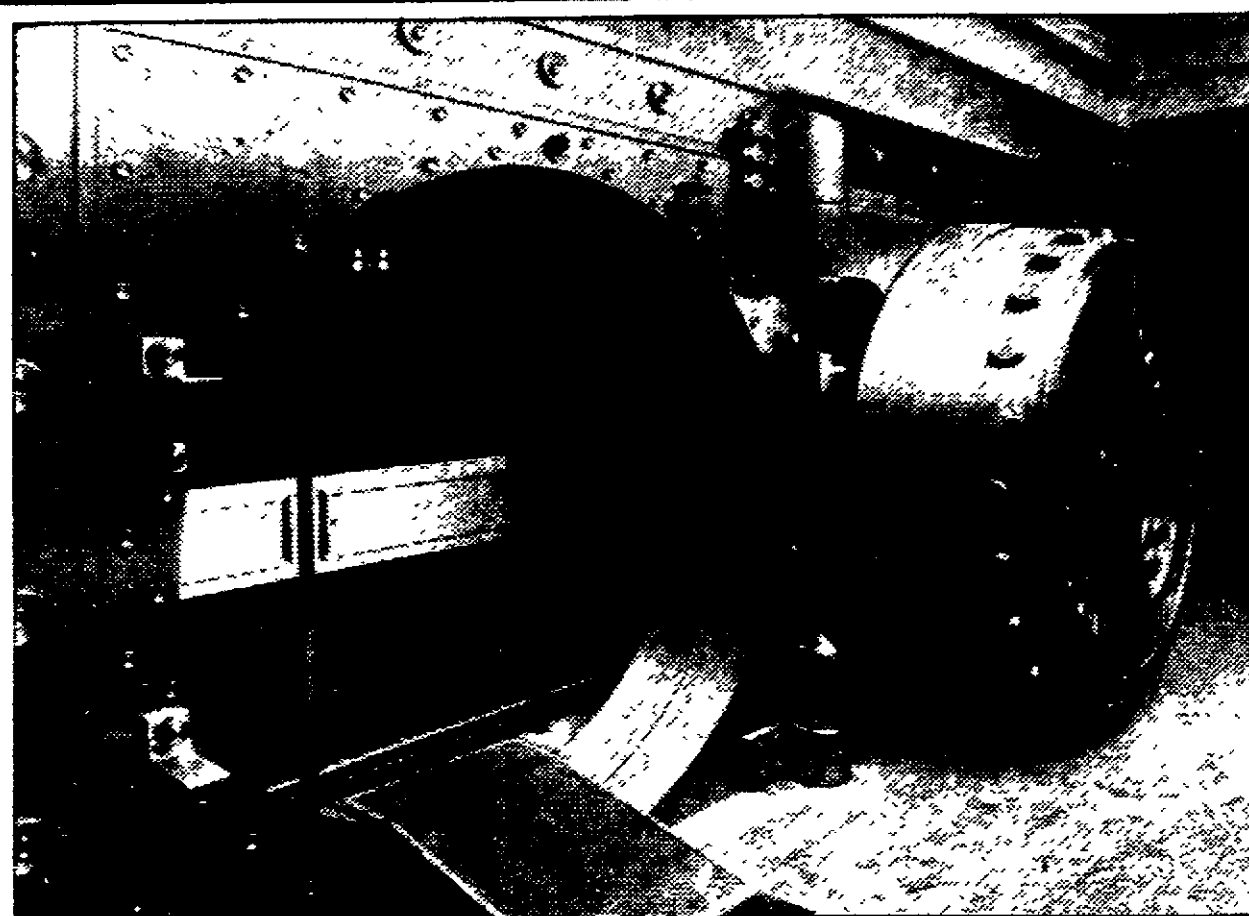

Fan Ventilates Vault
A large fan for ventilating the vault also has been installed. The fan is mounted in the center of an emergency door, 18 inches thick. The huge 30-ton vault door also is 18 inches thick and is constructed of stainless steel.

In the event that employees of the bank are accidentally imprisoned in the vault, or are forced into it by bandits, the emergency door will be opened each morning at the same time the vault is opened. An alarm is sounded if the emergency door is still open in the afternoon when the large vault door is closed for the day.

A few other alarm systems also have been provided, with a special alarm siren at the Appleton police station. In the interior of the vault is a special device similar to a microphone, which records all sound vibrations, and sets off the alarm if the vibrations become too pronounced.

Huge Vault Protects Valuables

Bandits and burglars will find it impossible to raid the Appleton State bank in the face of the protection offered by the huge vault pictured here. This 30-ton door is as impervious to fire as it is to assault and despite its huge weight is as easily handled as a wrist watch.

Comfort And Beauty Found In Bank

Patrons and visitors in the Appleton State Bank will be impressed by the beauty and the convenience offered in the remodeled quarters. The marble lobby and comfortable booths are as beautiful as they are efficient.

Four new Paldar chairs of tan and black with brown angeline leather have been installed. Tan lavatories of the pedestal variety also have been installed, harmonizing with the color scheme of the chairs.

The outstanding feature of the shop is the new case, installed on the east wall. It is constructed of figured oriental walnut, zebra wood and burled walnut.

The case was constructed especially for the shop according to plans designed by Mr. Gritzmacher. The lavatories are set in the shallow alcoves of the case where the tan fixtures harmonize with the oriental walnut and zebra wood. The base is of black vitrolite.

The case is equipped with built-in sterilizers, and each chair will be equipped with the new type of hot water sterilizer. Other equipment includes the modern electric vibrators and infra-red and violet ray lights for skin and scalp treatment.

Wood in the case came from three continents, Europe, Africa and America.

An alcove has been constructed in the west wall near the main entrance for the telephone and cash register. A cabinet has been installed under the booth and will serve as a display case.

A special supply room is in the rear of the shop. The room is equipped with cabinets and cases for barber shop supplies.

The shop floor is of golden pheasant tile and the base is of subtertile, harmonizing with the entire color scheme. All fixtures are chromium plated. A semi-indirect lighting system has been installed.

JAPANESE HONOR LATE ENVOY FROM AMERICA

Santa Barbara, Calif. (AP)—Flowers were carried by high officials of the Japanese government for the funeral yesterday of Charles MacVeagh, United States ambassador to Japan from 1925 to 1929.

The 71 year old former New York lawyer and general solicitor for the United States Steel corporation died here last Friday night. Services were held at an Episcopal church, All-Saints-by-the-Sea.

The body was cremated and the ashes placed temporarily in the Santa Barbara cemetery vault, for later removal to the family vault in Philadelphia.

Baron Shidehara, Japanese foreign minister, and Japanese Ambassador Debutch at Washington, wired flowers. M. Soto, of the Japanese consul at Los Angeles, officially represented the Japanese government at the services.

CASHIER WITH BANK SINCE IT OPENED IN '11

M. A. Schuh, cashier of the Appleton State bank, has been connected with the institution since its organization in December of 1911. Mr. Schuh, who was born in Tigerton, Wis., attended grade school there, and then enrolled in Pio Nono college at Milwaukee. After leaving that school he became a clerk at the Bank of Hortonville, where he was employed for three years. Then he accepted the position of assistant cashier of the Appleton State bank when it was organized. He served as assistant cashier for 14 years until B. J. Zuehlke, then cashier, was made president. Mr. Schuh then became cashier. He also is on the board of directors.

Mr. Schuh also is vice president and director of the First National bank of Dale, vice president and director of the State Bank of Fremont and director of the Bank of Black Creek.

NAVAL RECRUITING OFFICER COMING HERE

The chief petty officer of the U. S. naval recruiting station at Oshkosh will be at the Appleton post office on Tuesday, Dec. 15, for the purpose of enlisting Appleton youths in the U. S. Navy, according to word received this morning by Emmery A. Greunke, Appleton postmaster.

The postmaster recently wrote R. H. Wakeman, lieutenant commander of the U. S. Navy at Milwaukee, seeking information about where Appleton applicants could enlist. He said that he has been receiving many inquiries in recent weeks.

Wakeman answered saying that the nearest recruiting station was at Oshkosh but that the chief petty officer there had been ordered to come to Appleton on Dec. 15.

Inquiry Requested For Transportation System

Washington (AP)—Congressional inquiry into transportation systems, with special attention to government-aided water and air lines, was recommended today by the interstate commerce commission.

In its yearly report to the national legislature, it urged regulation of motor trucks and buses, railroad holding companies, freight forwarding agencies, coastwise steamship rates, refrigerator car companies and attorneys' fees in railway mail pay cases.

There were 19 recommendations. Adoption of all would result in sweeping changes in the interstate commerce act, an important one calling for modification of that section aimed to assure railroads of a "fair return" on their property investment.

The commission called attention to the 15 per cent freight rate case decided in October. It told congress the railroads will earn far less than an adequate return this year and suggested action to maintain adequate rates at all times.

The treasury holds $13,110,450 in the railroad contingent fund. This is money paid by railroads under the recapture law and interest on the fund received from government bonds and other sources. Most of the payments were under protest and only a few thousands could be used to loan to railroads, the objective of creation of the fund. The railroads have paid in $10,581,249.90, and the United States government has paid $2,465,613 in interest on bonds in the fund.

Against Recapture Laws
As it did a year ago, the commission urged repeal of the recapture provisions of the law on the ground that it is a "wasteful and largely ineffective means of adjustment."

For this session, the commission would substitute a paragraph directing the commission to fix the general rate level so that over a period of years there would be a return which would maintain railroad credit as well as good times.

The commission would be authorized to determine what a fair return would be.

Amendment of another section would authorize the commission, after completing its original valuation of a railroad, to keep itself informed of new construction and improvements so the commission would have additional information on valuations whenever it was needed.

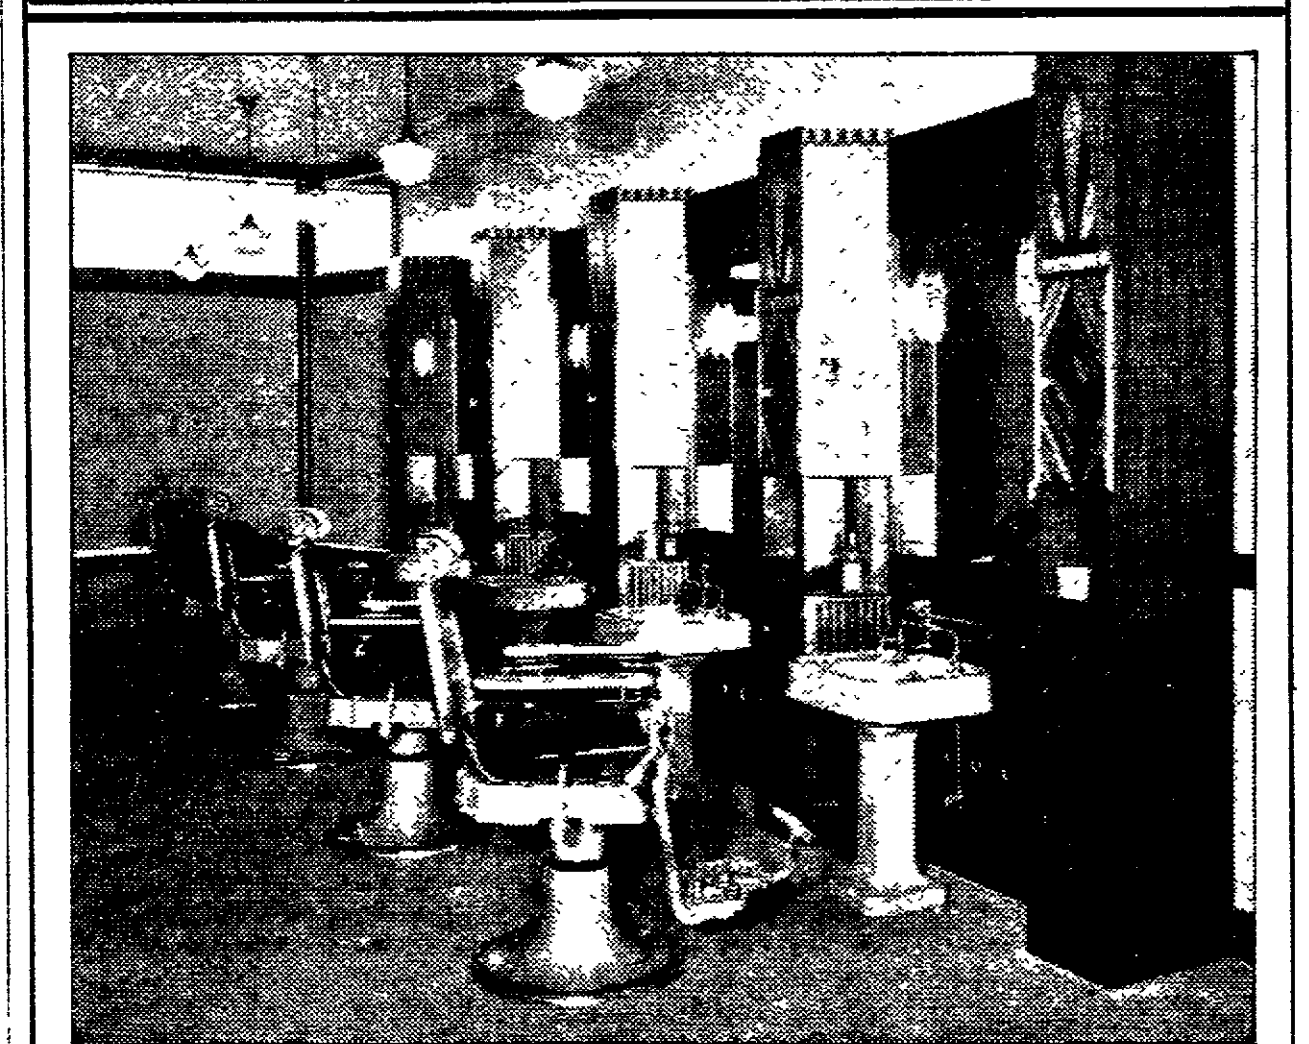

The proposed study of transportation would be intended to find out what steps should be taken to place all forms "on an equitable basis." Another goal would be ascertainment of whether and how motor carrier regulation can be made uniform over the country.

Attorney's fees in railway mail cases were assailed in the recommendations because of being paid at times on a contingent fee basis.

In an effort to lighten the pressure under which the 11 commissioners now work, congress was urged to amend the law so authority can be delegated to individual commissioners and employees. At present the entire commission, or a division of at least three members, must consider every case decided, although many matters could be handled by executive employees.

President Submits Moratorium Agreement To U. S. Senate

REST OF WORLD CAN'T PAY ITS DEBTS, HE SAYS

Hoover Tells Senate Further Adjustments Must Be Made

Washington (P)—The text of President Hoover's message to congress asking ratification of his proposal for a one-year moratorium on inter-governmental debts follows:

With the support of a large majority of the individual members of the senate and house, I informed the governments concerned last June that—

The American government proposed the postponement during one year of all payments on inter-governmental debts, both principal and interest, of course not including obligations of governments held by private parties.

"Subject to confirmation by congress, the American government will postpone all payments upon the debts of foreign governments July 1, 1932, conditional on a like postponement for one year of all payments on inter-governmental debts owing the important creditor powers."

In making this proposal, I also publicly stated: "The purpose of this action is to give the world time to recover from the depression and to help free the recuperative forces already in motion in the United States from retarding influences from abroad."

Depression in Europe

"The world-wide depression has affected the countries of Europe more severely than our own. Some of these countries are feeling to a serious extent the drain of this depression on national economies. The burden of inter-governmental debts, payable in normal times, weighs heavily in the midst of this depression."

"From a variety of causes arising out of the depression, such as the fall in the price of foreign commodities and the lack of confidence in economic and political stability abroad, there is an abnormal movement of gold into the United States which is lowering the credit stability of many foreign countries. These and the other difficulties abroad diminish buying power for our exports and in a measure are the cause of our continued unemployment and continued lower prices to our farmers."

"Wise and timely action should contribute to relieve the pressure of these adverse forces in foreign countries and should assist in the re-establishment of confidence, thus forwarding political peace and economic stability in the world."

"Authority of the president to deal with this problem is limited, as this action must be supported by the congress. It has been assured the cordial support of leading members of both parties in the senate and the house."

Time Great Element

"The essence of this proposition is to give time to permit debtor governments to recover their national prosperity. I am suggesting to the American people that they be wise creditors in their own interest and be good neighbors."

"I wish to take this occasion also to frankly state my views upon our relations to German reparations and the debts owed to us by the allied governments of Europe. Our government has not been a party to, or exerted any voice in determination of, reparations obligations. We purposely did not participate in either general reparations or the division of colonies or property."

"The repayment of debts due to us from the allies for the advance for war and reconstruction were settled upon a basis not contingent upon German reparations or related thereto. Therefore, reparations are necessarily wholly a European problem with which we have no relation."

"I do not approve in any remote sense of the cancellation of the debts to us. World confidence would not be enhanced by such action. None of our debtor nations have ever suggested it. But as the basis of the settlement of these debts was the capacity under normal conditions of the debtor to pay, he should be consistent with our own policies and principles if we take into account the abnormal situation now existing in the world."

Need Broad Vision

"I am sure the American people have no desire to attempt to extract any sum beyond the capacity of any debtor to pay, and the widest and broadest vision requires that our government should recognize the situation as it exists."

"This course of action is entirely consistent with the policy which we have hitherto pursued. We are not involved in the discussion of strictly European problems, of which the payment of German reparations is one. It represents our willingness to make a contribution to the early restoration of world prosperity in which our own people have so deep an interest."

"I wish further to add that while this action has no bearing on the conference for limitation of land armaments to be held next February, inasmuch as the burden of competitive armaments has contributed to bring about this depression, we trust that by this evidence of our desire to assist we shall have contributed to the good will which is so necessary in the solution of this major question."

All the important creditor governments accepted this proposal. The necessary agreements among them have been executed, and creditor governments have foregone the receipt of payments due them since July 1, 1931."

The effect of this agreement was instantaneous in reversing the drift toward general economic panic and has served to give time to the peoples of those countries to readjust their economic life. The action taken was necessary. I am confident it commends itself to the judgment of the American people."

Payments due to the United States government from many countries, both on account of principal and interest, will be on Dec. 15. It is highly desirable that a law should be enacted before that date authorizing the secretary of the treasury, with the approval of the president, to postpone all payments due on account of debts owned by foreign governments to the United States government during the year ending June 30, 1932, and to provide for their payment over a 10-year period, beginning July 1, 1932.

We approach the new year in the clear that a number of the governments indebted to us will be unable to meet further payments to us in full pending recovery in their economic life. It is useless to bind ourselves to an obvious fact. Therefore it will be necessary in some cases to make still further temporary adjustments.

The congress has shared with the executive in the past the consideration of questions arising from these debts. I am sure that it will commend itself to the congress, that the legislative branch of the government should continue to share this responsibility.

In order that we should be in a position to deal with the situation, I recommend the creation of the World War Debt Commission, which may arise in connection with these debts during the present economic emergency, and to report to the congress its conclusions and recommendations.

Disarmament Issue

The United States has accepted an invitation to take part in the world disarmament conference which convenes on Feb. 2 at Geneva. The efforts of this conference will be in the which the endeavors in which the American government has taken a leading part beginning with the Hague conference in 1899.

Include Land Arms

Up to the present time the record of achievement has been almost entirely in the field of naval disarmament. It is to be hoped that further progress can be made in reduction of naval armaments and limitation and reduction of armaments needed can be extended to land arms.

The burden of taxes to support armament is greater today than before the great war, and the economic instability of the world is definitely due in part to this cause and the fears which these huge armaments at all times create. No discouragements should be permitted to turn the world from sane and reasonable limitation of arms.

With a view to establishing an atmosphere of confidence for the opening of this world disarmament conference more than forty governments, including all the principal military and naval powers, have joined in accepting the principle of one year armaments truce.

This truce, which is the outgrowth of a proposal advanced last September by the foreign minister of Italy, is designed to prevent the expansion of armaments program during the coming months in the hope of removing the threat of a sudden revival of competition in arms before and during the conference. These steps were fully approved by our war and navy departments.

Manchurian Situation

We have been deeply concerned over the situation in Manchuria. As parties to the Kellogg-Briand pact and to the nine power treaty, we have a responsibility in maintaining the integrity of China and a direct interest with other nations in maintaining peace there.

When this controversy originated in September the league of nations was in session and China, appealed to the council of that body which at once undertook measures of conciliation between China and Japan. Both China and Japan have participated in these proceedings before the council ever since.

Under the Kellogg-Briand pact all of the signatories, including China and Japan, have covenanted to seek none but pacific means in the settlement of their disputes. Thus the ultimate purpose of proceedings under this section of the Kellogg-Briand pact and of conciliation proceedings by the league covenant coincide.

It seemed, therefore, both wise and appropriate rather to aid and advise with the league and maintain unity of world effort to maintain peace than to take independent action.

In all negotiations, however, the department of state has maintained complete freedom of judgment and action as to participation in any measures which the league might finally determine upon.

Efforts Of U. S.

Immediately after the outbreak of the "incident" the government advised both Japan and China of its serious interest. It subsequently recommended its views to both governments regarding their obligations under the Kellogg-Briand pact.

In this action we were joined by other nations signatory of the pact. This government was consistently and respectfully on diplomatic relations with the league of nations, and it is our policy to maintain peace and to take independent action.

In the remaining efforts of the nations to bring about a peaceful settlement this government has realized that the course of the latest attitude was detrimental, and it is believed that public opinion in this country has appreciated the wisdom of this restraint.

At present a resolution is pending before the meeting at Paris, with hopes of passage, under which Japan and China will agree to take initiative which might lead to renewed conflict; in which Japan has reiterated its intention to withdraw the Japanese troops to the railway zone as soon as lives and property of Japanese nationals in Manchuria can be adequately protected; and under which both nations agree to a neutral commission to meet on the ground, to which commission all matters in dispute can be referred for investigation and report.

St. Lawrence Waterway

Conversations were begun between the secretary of state and the Canadian minister of Washington on Nov. 14 looking to the framing of a treaty for the development of the St. Lawrence waterway. The negotiations are continuing. I am hopeful that an agreement may result within a reasonable time enabling us to begin work on this great project, which will be of much importance economically to Canada and to the United States.

French, Italian Visits

The president of the council of ministers of France, M. Laval, visited Washington in October in order to discuss problems of outstanding world interest, in the solution of which it was felt that the two countries could be of assistance.

The informal and cordial conversations served to bring into relief the respective position of the two nations.

The visit in November of the royal Italian minister for foreign affairs afforded an opportunity for a cordial exchange of views respecting the many world problems in which this government and the government of Italy are interested.

It was not the purpose of these meetings to engage in any commitments or to conclude agreements. However, the visits of M. Laval and Signor Grandi, together with various meetings of statesmen in Europe and the visit of the secretary of state to European countries, have brought about valuable understanding of the nature of the problems confronting different governments which should aid in their solution.

Nicaragua

In compliance with the agreement made in May, 1927, the Nicaraguan government requested the supervision by an American commission from the United States of the congressional elections held in 1930.

This year a member of the commissions of 1923 and 1930 was sent to Nicaragua as an observer during the election of municipal authorities in order that, on the basis of his observations, it might be possible to arrange the many necessary details of the supervision of the 1932 presidential election in Nicaragua.

Armed forces of the United States maintained in Nicaragua have been reduced to the minimum deemed necessary to the training of the Nicaraguan constabulary and the rendering of appropriate support for such instruction. It is proposed to withdraw completely American armed forces from Nicaragua after their presidential election in 1932.

Nicaragua suffered a terrible disaster in the destruction of Managua, the capital, by earthquake and fire in March last. With their usual generosity the American people, through the Red Cross, went wholeheartedly to the assistance of the stricken country.

United States marines and engineers of the war department, who were in the country making a survey of the proposed canal route, joined in the relief service.

The American legation building was destroyed with all its contents, but the minister and his staff continued to carry on their official duties and worked ceaselessly in the face of unusual hardships. The Nicaraguan government has expressed its deep gratitude for the aid rendered.

Progress In Haiti

Substantial progress has been made in carrying out the program for the withdrawal of our activities in Haiti recommended by the commission which, with the support of the congress, made an investigation of Haitian affairs in 1930, and by its good offices laid the foundation for the present popularly elected government of that republic.

After protracted negotiations an accord was reached with the Haitian government on Aug. 5 providing for the return to Haitian control of important government services heretofore carried on under American supervision by virtue of general obligations arising through the provisions of our treaty with Haiti.

In accordance with this agreement the Haitian government on Oct. 1 assumed definitely the administration and control of the department of public works, the sanitary service of agriculture, which includes the industrial educational system. All American personnel was withdrawn from these services.

To minimize the possibility of epidemics, and in order that the health of the American troops and officials still stationed in Haiti might be adequately protected, the accord provided that an American scientific mission, consisting of three American naval officers and six hospital corpsmen, should be charged with the control of sanitation in the cities of Port au Prince and Cape Haitien.

The accord makes appropriate provision for the continuance of adequate financial control and assistance on the part of our government. The liberty of action, both of the government of the United States and the government of Haiti, in the management of financial administration, is of course, limited.

In this connection it must be borne in mind that investors have supplied capital desired by Haiti and that securities have been issued to them on the faith and credit of the provisions of that treaty and the American financial control which it provided during the life of the bonds.

Bolivia And Paraguay

In 1923 the government of the United States, together with the governments of Cuba, Colombia, Mexico, and Uruguay, formed the commission on inquiry and conciliation, Bolivia-Paraguay, which had the good fortune of being able to terminate an international incident which for a time threatened to cause war between the countries involved.

The five neutral governments offered their good offices to Bolivia and Paraguay, with a view to forwarding a settlement of their difficulties. This offer was accepted in principle. I am happy to state that representatives of both countries are now meeting in Washington, with the hope of concluding a pact of nonaggression between them.

Boundary Disputes

It has been the privilege of this government to lend its good offices on several occasions in the past to the settlement of boundary disputes between the American republics. One of the most recent occasions upon which the disinterested services of this government were requested was in connection with the settlement of the dispute which for almost a century has been outstanding between the Republics of Guatemala and Honduras with respect to their common boundary.

Conferences extending over a period of some months were held in 1930 in the department of state, and eventually on July 19, 1930, a treaty was signed submitting the question to arbitration, and there was also signed a supplementary convention providing for the delimitation of the boundary after the arbitral tribunal hands down its award. Ratifications were exchanged on October 15, 1931.

The tribunal, which will meet in Washington, will be presided over by the chief justice of the United States, who has set December 15, 1931, as the date for the first meeting.

Time Limit Expires

The period for hearings before the general and special claims commissions between this country and Mexico expired in August, 1931. Pursuant to a resolution of the senate under date of February 28, 1931, and under instructions from the department of state, the American ambassador at Mexico City is carrying on negotiations with the Mexican government looking to the renewal of the activities of the commissions, in order that the claims of American citizens still pending may be heard and adjudicated.

The governments of the United States and Mexico have approved in principle certain engineering plans submitted by the International Boundary commission, United States and Mexico, for the rectification of the Rio Grande in the vicinity of El Paso, Tex., to prevent periodical floods in that region.

Negotiations are being carried on between the two governments in an effort to reach an agreement by which this important international project may be undertaken.

Treaties In Senate

There have been transmitted to the senate, from time to time, treat ies and conventions which have failed during recent sessions to obtain that body's consideration or final decision.

Inasmuch as these treaties affect numerous phases of private and public endeavor, I earnestly commend their early conclusion to the attention of the congress.

In the past session of the congress I transmitted to the senate protocols providing for adherence by the United States to the Permanent Court of International Justice.

Upon that occasion I expressed my views fully not only of the wisdom of such action, but that the safeguards against European entanglements stipulated for by the senate has been in effect secured and the interests of the United States protected.

I need not repeat that for over twelve years every president and every secretary of state has urged this action as a material contribution to the pacific settlement of controversies among nations and a further assurance against war.

By consideration of legislation during its last session, the congress informed itself thoroughly regarding the merits of the copyright convention signed at Berlin on November 13, 1908. I hope that necessary legislation will be enacted during this congress which will make it possible for further consideration to be given to the copyright convention.

Salmon Treaty

The Sockeye salmon fisheries treaty, entered into with Canada to afford protection to the industry, which was signed on May 26, 1930, merits the attention of the senate during the present session.

The United States sent a delegation to the Conference on Safety of Life at Sea, which was held in London in 1929. The convention, which was signed by the more important maritime nations of the world on May 31, 1929, has unified the standards of safety in accordance with modern developments of engineering science and in compliance with the governments' obligation to their citizens to reduce the perils of travel to a minimum by requiring high efficiency in seamanship.

The convention for the Supervision of the International Trade in Arms and Ammunition and in Implements of War, signed at Geneva, June 17, 1925, represents another of the steps taken in the general field of restriction of armament. It has been ratified unconditionally by some nations, conditionally by others.

With the added impetus which ratification by the United States would lend to such a move, it is quite possible that the fourteen ratifications necessary by treaty stipulation would be received to bring the convention into force.

Among the other treaties and conventions which remain before the senate for its consideration and of no less importance in their respective fields are a treaty regarding consular agents of American states (Sixth International Conference of American States, Havana, 1928); a treaty relating to maritime neutrality with American states (Sixth International Conference of American States, Havana, 1928); the general treaty of inter-American arbitration, signed on the same day for the amelioration of the condition of wounded and sick of armies in the field (the Red Cross convention); and the convention for the unification of certain rules relating to bills of lading for the carriage of goods by sea, signed at Brussels on behalf of the United States on June 23, 1929.

Needless More

Since my message to the seventy-second congress and by virtue of the power vested in the office of the chief executive, I have continued to commission representatives of this government to negotiate treaties with the representatives of their countries which affect the amicable, political, commercial and juridical relations of this country, as well as treaties dealing with humanitarian matters.

Important treaties and conventions which have been signed recently by representatives of this government are as follows:

1. Treaty of arbitration and conciliation with Switzerland, signed February 16, 1931.

2. Treaty modifying the conciliation convention with Italy (Bryan peace treaty), signed September 23, 1931.

3. Extradition treaty with Greece, signed May 6, 1931.

4. Protocol relating to military obligations in certain cases of double nationality, multilateral, signed December 31, 1930.

5. Treaty of friendship, commerce, and consular rights with Poland, signed June 15, 1931.

6. Treaty with reference to establishment and sojourn with Turkey, signed October 28, 1931.

These treaties and conventions will be transmitted to the senate in due course, with a view to obtaining its advice and consent to ratification.

SUNSET PASS

by Zane Grey

SYNOPSIS: Wagontongue, the scene of several bad gun fights, seems both an attraction and a menace to Trueman Rock. He has returned, after six years, expecting to find the sheriff looking for him. But the sheriff has been killed, and it is rumored that Ash Preston, the shooting, Ash, who has a bad reputation, is the son of Gage Preston. The older Preston heads an outfit that is new since Rock's time, and is making money by large scale cattle butchering. Rock visiting a friend, Sol Winter, who tells him the local gossip: Winter's son has been killed, the girls Rock used to know are married or gone away. Amy Wund has made an unhappy marriage and Winter thinks she is interested in Rock. Winter leaves Rock temporarily in charge of his store, and a girl comes in. Rock likes her appearance and tells her he is the clerk.

Chapter 3
SPILLED RICE
NOW, shall I read the list off one at a time or altogether?" the girl asked.
"Well, miss, it really doesn't make any difference," replied Trueman, vaguely, gazing at her lips. They were sweet and red and just now curved into a little questioning smile. But, as he watched, it fled and then they seemed sad. Indeed her whole face seemed sad, particularly the deep grey eyes that had begun to regard him somewhat doubtfully.
"Very well—the groceries first," she said, consulting her list. "Five of sugar, five of rice, five—"
"Five what?" interrupted Trueman, with alacrity, moving toward the grocery department. Everything was in plain sight. It ought to be easy, if he could keep his eyes off her.
"That's what I thought," replied Trueman, hastily. "But some people buy this stuff in bulk. I used to."
"Oh, you were not always a clerk, then?" she inquired, following him.
"Oh, no! I've been a— a lot of things."
She looked as if she believed him. Rock began to grasp that he was bungling the greatest opportunity of his life. He found the sugar and had almost filled a large sack when she checked him. "Not brown sugar. White please."
There was something in her tone that made Rock wonder if she were laughing at him. It stirred him to dexterity rather than clumsiness. He filled a large paper bag with white sugar, then turned to her, essaying a smile.
"But you didn't weigh it," she said.
"I never weigh out small amounts," he returned blandly. "I can guess very accurately."
He laid the bag on the counter. "What next? On the rice."
"Can you guess the weight of rice, too?" she inquired.
"Sure can. Even better. It's not near so heavy as sugar." And he filled a larger bag. In attempting to pass this to her he accidentally touched her bare hand with his. The soft contact shot a thrilling current through him. He dropped the bag. It burst, and the rice poured all over her, and like a white stream to the floor.
"There—you've done it," she said, aghast.
"Excuse me, miss. I'm sure awkward this day. But rice is lucky. That might be a good omen. I'm superstitious," went on Trueman, waxing toward the confidential.
"Well, young man—" she interposed, almost severely. But this gaze disconcerted her.
"You never can tell," he said. "Spillin' rice might mean a wedding."
She blushed, but spoke up with spirit. "It couldn't, so far as I'm concerned," she said. "Of course I don't know your affairs. . . . But you are wasting my time."
Rock humbly apologized and proceeded to fill another bag with rice. Then he went on with the order, and for several moments, in which he kept his eyes averted, he performed very well as a clerk. He certainly prayed that Sol Winter would not come back soon. Who was she? He had never in his life met such a girl. She could not be married. Too young and—she did not know what. But the thought that she might be making his heart sink like cold lead. He stole a glance at her left hand. Ringless.
She asked to see some calico. Rock opened the only bolt of this commodity on the shelves and drew it down.
"Calico! Sure this reminds me," he said with such enthusiasm that she had to attend. "Once in Colorado I rode into a town. Gunnison. It was a Saturday. Big day. All the outfits were in. Everbody for miles around. Horses, wagons, buckboards on the streets. I bought a bolt of red calico, tied one end to theommel of my saddle and left the bolt flyin' on the ground. Then I rode up and down. In about ten minutes that street was a roarin' millin' melee."
"Please cut me ten yards of this," she said, with steady eyes of disfavor upon him.
Trueman made a mess of the job, to his secret chagrin and had to repair. Then she asked for a certain kind of dress goods.
"How much of this?" asked Rock, stripping off yards of the material.
"Five. And I want it cut on the bias," she returned.
"On the bias," he echoed. "Oh, sure." And he went at the task desperately, realizing full well that he could not stand this deception much longer. But he had not progressed very far when she interrupted. "You're measuring too much! I said yards—not miles."
Trueman vowed he would finish as he had begun. He went on.
"You can't gaze on dress goods like that," she protested.
"Miss, this is five yards, right?"
"Stop! You'll ruin it. That's the way I want it cut," she cried.
"You said on something or other."
"Excuse me, Mr. Clerk," she returned, manifestly at the end of her patience. She brushed him aside, and taking up the shears busied herself to cut the material to suit herself.
"I'm sorry," spoke up Rock, contritely. "I'm not usually so dumb. But you see I never before waited on such a— a girl as you."
She shot him a gray glance not wholly doubtful or unforgiving, and meeting his eyes caused her to look down again with a tinge of color staining her cheeks.
"I'm not a clerk. Good Heavens! If the gangs I've ridden with would drop in here to see me—don't this. Whew! . . . My name is Trueman Rock. I'm an old friend of Sol Winter's."
"Trueman Rock?" she repeated, almost with a start, as she swiftly lifted big, questioning, surprised eyes. That name was not unfamiliar to her, but Rock could not tell whether she attached good or bad to it.

NEGROES HELD AS SLAYERS ARE HANGED BY MOB

Suspected Killers Taken From Jail and Lynched in West Virginia

Lewisburg, W. Va.—(AP)—Two Negroes were taken from the Greenbrier county jail here early today and lynched by an organized mob of about 60 men.

They were hanged from the cross arm of a telephone pole on the Midland trail, and then, before death could come by strangulation, volley after volley of shots were fired into their bodies.

The two, Tom Jackson, 25, and George Banks, 27, had been arrested Nov. 23, at Leslie, W. Va., in connection with the killing of Constable Joseph Miles and Jeff Brown, a companion, who had gone to a Negro dance at Leslie to order the dancers to be more quiet. They had been in the dance hall when they were shot down by a shotgun. Miles died instantly but Brown lived for a short time.

The mob came to the jail in automobiles about 2 o'clock. The cars were driven quietly around the square on which the jail is located with their lights dimmed and their license plates removed. Simultaneously they pulled to the curb and parked.

Quietly, and almost with military precision, the men got out of the automobiles and marched to the jail door. Jailer Wallace Flint was summoned, and as he opened the door he was grasped by the men and his keys taken from him.

While one group guarded Flint, another went back into the cell block and awakened Jackson and Banks. Chad only in their underclothing the pair was taken out of the jail and placed in two of the leading automobiles.

The caravan then proceeded through town to the edge of the town limits. Occasional shots from the cars selected a telephone pole arc the cars stopped.

Ropes were tossed over either side of the cross arm and a group of men grasped the ends. Nooses were quickly fashioned and at a signal the group pulled Jackson and Banks up toward the cross arm.

The two Negroes suspended well above the ground, the men tied the free ends of the ropes and stepped back. At another signal dozens of the men produced guns and their grim work was completed.

The shots aroused the town, but before the townspeople could get to the scene in any great numbers the lynchers had driven away in their automobiles.

Flint, the jailer, refused to say whether he had recognized any of the men or automobiles, as did the few spectators.

STATE TO PROVIDE MANY MORE PHEASANTS

Madison—(AP)—William F. Grimm, state superintendent of game, today said he had recommended a plan to the state conservation commission to provide 300,000 to 500,000 pheasants in 40 southern Wisconsin counties during the next five years and proportionate increases in subsequent years.

The plan advocates establishment of temporary county game farms in the southern part of the state, to be supplied by chicks from the Fawn Creek farm in Door co. The farms are equipped to produce from 7,500 to 10,000 ring-necked pheasants and from 30,000 to 40,000 eggs annually.

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

by Ely Culbertson

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

TRUMPING ACES TO FINESSE

If you should ever see your partner engaged in the pastime of trumping Aces and Kings in order to finesse other suits, you might be pardoned if you doubted his sanity, or at the very least, his knowledge of the finer points of the game. Certainly, if he sacrificed game by this method you would feel that he had a very severe case of Finesitis and no one could seriously blame you if you sought to avoid him as a partner in the future. However, occasionally a hand comes along in which some Aces and Kings have only the rank of the lowest playing cards in the suit, because their greatest value is that you can trump them and thus obtain easy access to the other hand. The bidding had reached rather high, Leghairs and South had to play as best to make his contract, even though in doing so he greatly disturbed the serenity of his partner.

The Bidding:
(Figures after bids in table refer to number—d explanatory paragraph)

South	West	North	East
1♠	Pass	5♠(1)	Pass
6♠(2)	Pass	Pass	Pass(3)

1—North is stretching one hand greatly to save a Slam invitation. Slam should never be bid on distribution alone and for all North knows, the combined hands may not hold more than half the honor tricks in the deck. Another reason against the Slam invitation is the great danger of duplication of values due to North's void in diamonds and the possibility of South holding high honors in that suit.

2—Instead of a minimum, South holds a maximum one-trick. In fact, many players would mistakenly open the hand with a bid of two, forcing a response from partner. His bid of six spades is therefore fully justified.

3—East fears a Double might prevent him from making a snide trick and he is by no means sure that the club King is a trick-taker.

West opened the diamond Queen and North was not surprised when one of his trumps was utilized to win the trick, but did feel a mild measure of astonishment when South played the Ace. A trump was now led from Dummy upon which East played the ace and South the Ten. South, of course, holding the trump, South now led the King of diamonds, the high card of that suit again trumping in Dummy. To lead Dummy's last trump upon which East played the Krave and South the Queen. East's last trump was now captured and a small club led and the Ten in the Dummy freed. East's King East now led a heart, noting that South's love for finesse would control his play, but South was through with

THERE are women who say, "Oh, I can't be bothered with all this budgeting and counting pennies and tracking down low prices. Life's too short to be bothered with thrift."

Now all this sounds very gay and very carefree. But, as a matter of fact, the speakers are anything but gay—anything but carefree. Thriftless spenders are usually worried and careworn. They are always doing without the little luxuries which their thrifty neighbors are well able to afford.

And, nine times out of ten, their thrifty neighbors are regular A & P customers... Whether they are women who have to save money, or whether they are women who know that it is intelligent to save money.

Washington—The reconstruction finance corporation recommended by President Hoover, if created by congress, will have virtually the same managing personnel that carried the war finance corporation through one of the most successful experiences a government agency has ever had.

The war finance corporation, which originally had a capital of a half billion and with authority to make loans not exceeding a billion dollars, finally closed its books with a profit to the government of about $50,000,000 and returned to the treasury every dollar of the original capital advanced.

Eugene Meyer, now governor of the old federal reserve board, who was managing director of the corporation, did not call in his final report spoke of it as a "return approximating the cost to the treasury of the money used in the operations of the corporation." This was the first time that any government agency considered interest on government money as a cost item.

Difference in Plans
Looking back over the record of the war finance corporation and comparing the proposed bills of Senator Walcott of Connecticut and Representative Strong of Kansas, it will be found that the chief difference today is that the new reconstruction finance corporation will place its emphasis on industrial loans and export financing whereas the war finance corporation did much of the lending to cooperative marketing and farmers' organizations which now is being done through the revolving fund handled by the farm board.

Inasmuch as the war finance corporation had two separate careers—during the war and then when it was revived in 1921—the official record shows that $306,000,000 was advanced under war powers and of this sum about $204,000,000 was advanced to American railroads and every dollar was repaid. The remainder of the amounts advanced during the war were for agriculture, export loans and miscellaneous industrial assistance particularly in connection with munitions industries. After the war, the corporation advanced about $38,000,000 for export loans and $300,000,000 for agricultural and livestock loans.

An analysis, therefore, of war finance corporation activities shows that after the war, its job was mainly in agricultural loans and during the war it rendered aid to industry.

Board's Chief Task
With the existence today of the farm board, it is not contemplated that the reconstruction finance corporation will have to deal with agriculture except incidentally. Hence

Saw Pal Killed

Joseph Riordan, 39 (above), escaped the police gunfire which killed a companion who was alleged to have burglarized a Newark, N. J. grocery store in quest of food. The other man, Henry E. Martell, 32, was shot down on the run when police, answering a burglary alarm, saw something metallic gleaming in his hand. The dead man was found clutching a stolen can of sardines.

The main task will be in financing industry and business in virtually the same way that it did during the war. Many of the export loans were on agricultural commodities and it may be that here again the reconstruction finance corporation may be helpful. In war times aid was rendered in the exporting of cotton, grain, canned fruits, tobacco, meat products, condensed milk, textile products, sheet steel, copper, sugar, mill machinery, agricultural machinery, railroad equipment and lumber.

Of the total sums advanced, some of the agricultural loans, amounting it is estimated to about $45,000,000, did not turn out successfully but the corporation had as an offset the money that it earned in the buying and selling of government securities. Thus the war finance corporation entered the open market and bought for its own account Liberty bonds when the market sagged. Also there were other items earned which made it possible for the total operation to be financially successful.

Example Cited

The nearest parallel to what the government has in mind today for the reconstruction finance corporation is the manner in which the war finance corporation loaned money to railroads and industries which were unable to secure financing in the regular channels. Thus, for instance, the Bethlehem Steel company, needing $50,000,000 to construct some munitions plants. On account of the hazards of war, private capital hesitated. The investment bankers finally brought out an issue and were permitted to say publicly that all bonds not sold by them would be purchased by the war finance corporation. Before the announcement was made, the war finance corporation was asked by the bankers to underwrite $20,000,000 directly and this the corporation did. But

NATIONAL DEFENSE SET AT 51 MILLION UNDER COST FOR '31

Washington — (AP) — President Hoover thinks national defense next fiscal year should cost $644,650,000, or $51,000,000 less than this year.

That is the figure his budget message to congress Wednesday recommended for the army, navy and marine corps.

Excluding items of a non-military nature, the war department's estimates totalled $302,944,000 — some $34,000,000 less than at present. Those of the navy amounted to $342,666,000 — more than $17,000,000 under the current year sum. The marine corps comes under the navy budget.

No enlisted personnel would be cut in either army or navy, but Marine Corps personnel would be cut from 17,500 men to 15,343. The navy's decreases included $15,000,000 for ordinary expenses, $8,000,000 on short projects, and $7,000,000 in construction of new ships and minor items.

The $15,000,000 savings on operation was offset, however, by a request increase of $15,000,000 for modernization of the battle-ships New Mexico, Mississippi and Idaho. Aviation estimates for both the army and navy were decreased sharply as compared with 1932 appropriations.

when it was apparent that the public was buying the securities offered, the war finance told the bankers to go ahead and sell the $20,000,000 bought originally by the government. The bankers had sold them to the government less the usual spread which private bankers take. The bonds were sold at the retail price to the public and the war finance corporation received a profit of about $350,000 on the transaction without itself investing a dollar in the underwriting.

WHO'S NEW IN CONGRESS

Wilbur White

Toledo, Ohio — (AP) — It was the "wet" cause that drew Wilbur White, Toledo editor, into the fight for a seat in congress from the ninth Ohio district.

He never sought public office until in 1930 when he defeated the veteran representative,

W. W. Chalmers, a dry, for the republican nomination.

Prior to his election White was managing editor of the Toledo Times. He is a quiet-spoken, deep-thinking, well-read man.

He is styled a liberal. A student of domestic affairs, he turned his attention recently to relief work. He urged President Hoover to call a special session of congress to take up the problem of unemployment and a repeal the dry laws.
